

MORE AUTOS THE CRY FOR MANY VISITORS

MAYOR, BUSINESS MEN'S CLUB
AND Y. M. C. A. PRESIDENTS ARE INTERESTED.

All Automobile Owners Urged to Assist in Extending Hospitality to the Ad Men.

Over 500 automobiles will be required to properly convey the visiting ad men over Waco on the occasion of their visit here May 24, and considerable difficulty is being experienced by the automobile committee of the ad club in securing this number of machines. Up to date, not more than 150 have been pledged.

It would be foolish to allow this body of 1200 to 1500 advertising men to stop off in Waco and not provide for them a way to see the city. The entertainment alone will not give them the idea of the city's commercial importance that it was planned to convey to them while here. They must be shown over the city from start to finish. It is hoped that within the next few days every automobile required will have been pledged. Chairman Flynn of the auto committee said yesterday that it would be necessary to know exactly by Tuesday how many machines could be counted on and he desires that all auto owners send in their names as soon as possible.

The Southwestern Telephone and Telegraph Company is installing special long distance booths at the Cotton Palace for the use of the ad men when they reach the Cotton Palace.

MAYOR BEPARKS HOSPITALITY

On the afternoon of Friday, May 24, our city is to be visited for a few hours by some very distinguished guests—the Ad Men of America. I want to bespeak for them your warmest welcome, your most friendly greeting and your best hospitality. Courtesy shown them will be "the best card upon the water."

I earnestly request that you will, especially on the occasion make good Waco's reputation for cordiality and hospitality.

Respectfully,
J. H. MACKAY,
Mayor of Waco.

BUSINESS MEN'S CLUB IS INTERESTED

E. W. Marshall, president of the Waco Business Men's Club, issued the following statement calling on all members of that organization to meet the trains of the Associated Ad Clubs next Friday upon their arrival here:

The visit here next Friday at 1:30 of the Associated Ad Clubs of America is an event of great importance to Waco from many standpoints. It is an affair that will result in great good to the city and I ask that every member of the Business Men's Club meet this train and take part in the reception of these men.

E. W. MARSHALL,
President Waco Business Men's Club

Y. M. C. A. TO THE POINT

The members of the Young Men's Business Men's League are urgently requested to act as a reception committee at the station on the arrival of the Associated Ad Clubs of America, in Waco, next week.

Waco must present a hospitable appearance and a large reception committee is the first courtesy accorded by visitors. Together with other organizations, the Y. M. C. A. will receive the reception of these men.

We want at least two or three hundred from the Y. M. C. A. at the station.

Respectfully,
ROY E. LANE,
President.

DELEGATION FRIDAY.

Many of the city's prominent advertising experts leave today and tomorrow to attend the meeting of the Associated Ad Clubs of America, in convention in Dallas this week, and to accompany them back to Waco Friday, and over the state in their inspection and pleasure trip. The program in Dallas today includes the appearance in the various pulpits of the city of laymen delegates to the Ad club convention. The regular program is started Monday and will be completed Thursday night. The trip over Texas will be started Friday, and Waco will be the first stop of importance. Following the entertainment here, the special trains will proceed over the state.

"COFFEE TRUST" MUST GO SAYS GOVERNMENT

WICKERSHAM SUES BRAZILIAN
VALORIZATION SCHEME AS PLOT TO BOOST PRICE.

New York and Foreign Capitalists
Parties to Action, International in Aspect.

By The Associated Press.

New York, May 18.—Attorney General Wickersham today moved against the so-called coffee trust or Brazilian valORIZATION scheme. In a petition in equity, filed in federal court here, the valORIZATION plan is declared to be a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The court is asked to decree the scheme unlawful, to enjoin the valORIZATION commission from withholding coffee from the market, and to appoint a receiver to sell the 950,000 bags, valued at $10,000,000, now alleged to be stored in warehouses of the New York Dock company. The government also applied for a temporary injunction restraining the valORIZATION commission from removing or disposing of coffee held in America pending the termination of the issue.

Members of the valORIZATION committee have agreed and conspired among themselves, the government charges, to withhold from the market large quantities of coffee, and to raise the price to an unreasonable extent. They have thus attempted, it is declared, to restrain the coffee trade throughout the world and "to injure and defraud the public for their own enrichment."

The suit has a distinctly international aspect. The Brazilian state of Sao Paulo is a party to the agreement which are declared unlawful in America. The government holds that the Brazilian state was induced to enact laws and enter into agreements in connection with the valORIZATION plan by those interested in increasing the price of coffee. The fact that the alleged agreements and conspiracies were not unlawful in Brazil, the government holds, can not justify the commission of an act in the United States in restraint of trade.

Who Defendants Are.

The defendants are Herman Solerick of New York, Baron Bruno Schroeder & Co. of Havre, Dr. Paulo da Silva Prado of Sao Paulo, Theodore Wille of Hamburg, the Societe Generale de Paris, and the New York Dock company. All the defendants except the last named are members of the valORIZATION commission.

State's Star Witness

ARRESTED AT TULSA

MORRIS MORRIS HELD TO KEEP HIM FROM TALKING TO OTHER WITNESSES.

By The Associated Press.

Tulsa, Ok., May 18.—Morris Morris, star witness for the state in the Reuter murder case, was today arrested by the state at the request of the defense as he stepped from the witness stand. Morris was a witness, and it later proved that the apprehension was to keep him from talking to other witnesses.

Rapid fire connections were sprung in the Reuter murder case today, when the prosecution put witnesses on the stand to weave a web of conspiracy in which it seeks to involve Mrs. Laura M. Reuter, widow of Chas. T. Reuter, with Guy D. McKenzie, Joe Maher and Bud Bell.

The material testimony to establish that Joe Maher and Bud Bell were in Tulsa as late as 11:30 o'clock on the night of the murder, at a time when they were supposed to have been well on the road to Sapulpa.

New Man Carrying Light.

That a man carrying a searchlight was seen running from the direction of the Reuter home a few minutes after the shots were fired.

That Guy D. McKenzie told Morris Morris, a witness, that he knew of a man who had some diamonds that would be mighty easy to get.

The defense sought to bring out in the cross-examination of Morris that Morris has no viable means of support and forced him to admit that he spent ninety-five days in the county jail at Sapulpa, awaiting trial on a robbery charge.

Alexander Daniel, a negro porter in the Diamond drug store, swore that Reuter was in the store about 11 o'clock on the night before the murder, about two hours before it was committed. He was in the company of a large man, whom Daniel could not definitely describe.

Girl Hears Shots.

Grace Campbell, a 14-year-old girl, testified that she heard the shots in the Reuter home. She went to a window and looked out. She saw a man running past her home, which is two blocks from the Reuter residence. He carried a flashlight.

The state will close its case Monday. It is believed the examination of witnesses subpoenaed by the defense will occupy two days.

By agreement of attorneys, Mrs. Reuter will not be placed in jail pending the conclusion of the hearing. She is permitted to come and go at will.

SAYS HE WILL TREAT WITH THE REBEL THROUGH HUERTA AND HIS FORCES.

Won't Discuss Report of Campaign
Planned to Retake Chihuahua,
Battle Is Near at Hand.

By The Associated Press.

Mexico City, May 18.—Neither President Madero nor any of his ministers would confirm or deny today that a new campaign was under way having for its object the retaking of Chihuahua. It is certain that the president has not sanctioned any peace proposals to the enemy. He is quoted as having asserted that his envoy to Orozco was Huerta and his army and their credentials were their arms.

A serious condition exists in Oaxaca, where fear is felt of an invasion and an attack on the capital. American residents in the city of Oaxaca, of whom there are about forty, have provisioned a local club and provided arms for self-protection in an emergency. Many bands of outlaws are terrorizing the rural districts and practically all lines of communication are interrupted.

Battle at Hand.

A telegram from the federal camp at Cievos, twenty miles south of Escalante, forecasts that a battle probably will occur in the vicinity of the latter town within twenty-four hours. A body of federal troops arrived there last night.

By The Associated Press.

Pine Bluff, Ark., May 18.—The Roosevelt forces won a victory in the sixth congressional district convention here today and the unopposed delegates were sent to the republican national convention. Negroes were in control of the convention and they sharply drew the color line, electing two negroes, Fred Davis of Pine Bluff, and C. M. Wade of Hot Springs, delegates to the national convention. It is said that both will vote for Roosevelt at Chicago.

PELOUSIA DOING IT, TOO.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 18.—Progressive republicans of Florida in this state elected seven delegates at large and six alternates to the national convention at Chicago and instructed them to vote for Col. Roosevelt for president, "so long as his name remains before the convention." The delegates will contest the delegation named by the so-called regular convention on February 6, at Palatka, which was instructed for President Taft.

DOOMED MAN'S NERVE HIS AGAIN

AFTER FOURTEEN HOURS OF SLEEP RICHESON REGAINS
CALM AND SELF-CONTROL.

Shows No Traces of Delirious
Hysterics He Manifested the Night Before.

By The Associated Press.

Boston, May 18.—Fourteen hours of sound, refreshing sleep today served to transform Charles V. T. Richeson, who is awaiting the call to the death chair, from a condition of delirious hysteria to calmness and apparent resignation.

Richeson's wish that his body be laid beside that of his mother in the family lot in the Virginia cemetery is to be granted. He was inadvertently told yesterday that his body was not desired there by members of his family, and this was partly responsible for the delirium of last night.

His Father Grants Request.

His counsel today took the matter up with the father of the prisoner, and tonight received the following message:

"Tell Clarence if it is his wish, he shall be buried at home. Give him my deepest love."

Breaks Long Fast.

Richeson this afternoon broke a fast of thirty hours when he joined his spiritual adviser, Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, and Chaplain Stebbins in a substantial dinner. It was the first food that had passed his lips since he boarded that ill hope of executive clemency had been swept away.

Attorney Morse announced that a brother of the prisoner, Douglas T. Richeson, is on his way from Chicago and will arrive in Boston tomorrow. He will be the only member of the Richeson family who will see the murderer before his death.

His Brain Applied For.

Application for the brain of Richeson was made today by an official of the Harvard medical school, who desired to examine it for abnormal features. The request will be referred to Richeson's family.

MATT and BURNS PAYNE, Richmond, and VIBERT BARKUS and J. D. BEARD.

All of the boys were under 15 years old.

The dormitory is a three-story structure, located about a mile from Boley. The fire originated in the kitchen of the building and the flames spread so rapidly that it was impossible to rescue all of the boys. Twelve boys and four teachers were stopping in the building when it took fire.

No insurance was carried on the building.

WILL RAISE MILLION FOR MISSION WORK

BAPTISTS AT OKLAHOMA CITY
PLAN BIG CAMPAIGN IN HOME AND FOREIGN FIELD.

By The Associated Press.

Oklahoma City, May 18.—Today will go down in the history of the Southern Baptist convention as a day of momentous undertaking. The crowning event from the foreign mission standpoint was the decision to raise $1,000,000 for foreign mission educational work. The report of the committee appointed a year ago was read by Secretary Lansing Burrows.

One million dollars is to be used as an educational fund in foreign lands, $200,000 of it going for the educational work on the foreign field. It is to be made payable in three years.

Dr. S. B. Ray, educational secretary of the foreign board, was nominated to look after raising the fund, with power to select his assistant. The report of the committee was adopted by an enthusiastic rising vote.

Following this, the report of the committee on appropriate recommendation that $1,000,000 be raised for mission work during the coming year. Of this sum, $412,000 is for home mission work and $588,000 is for foreign mission work. The apportionment includes home $11,000 and foreign $85,000. The B. Y. P. U. made reports showing huge increases giving out encouraging figures for the coming year, as did also the report of the secretary on woman's work. The officials selected included Lee McDonald of Texas and Milford Riggs of Oklahoma, vice-presidents of the B. Y. P. U.

The report on woman's work declares that the woman's societies were bringing the church to a higher and better standard of excellence and purity. There are 1815 new societies organized during the year.

The number of delegates attending, according to the report, is 1228, of which 421 are from Texas, the state being entitled to 638. The average attendance for ten years is 1300.

KATY SHOPS CERTAIN FOR WACO; CONTRACT SIGNED

President Schaff Advises That Work Will Commence at an Early Date; Surveys
Are Already Completed

CONTRACT PROVIDES EXPENDITURE OF $350,000.00

By The Associated Press.

The Katy shops for Waco are certain, the last nail of indecision and doubt having been pulled Saturday noon, when W. A. Webb, general manager of the Texas Central, returned from St. Louis with the contract bearing the signature of E. C. Schaff, president of W. W. Cameron, of the Waco committee. Mr. Schaff states: "We desire to proceed with this work at the very earliest possible date in order to get sufficient tracks and to make Waco a terminal early this fall, and I trust that proceedings may be initiated at once to secure the land which has not yet been acquired."

LOWEST EXPENDITURE $350,000

By the Katy's acceptance of the Waco proposition, this city is assured of railway shops to cost, under the contract, at least $350,000, but which in reality will be much more.

The expenditure of $350,000, Mr. Cameron said last night, is the minimum. The shops and terminals are to be located about three-quarters of a mile northeast of East Waco on the "Dry Pond" tract of land. It comprises 130 acres, and title, at a cost of $24,000, had been secured to all but 42 acres. Construction proceedings, to secure this will be instituted at once, and it is thought the ultimate, total cost will be in the neighborhood of $350,000. The 42-acre tract is owned by P. C. Withers of Denton.

Securing the Katy shops marks the end of several year's work on the part of the Business Men's Club. The negotiations have been pushed since last August, when the Katy railway made the proposition. It followed the absorption, actually, but not in name, of the Texas Central railroad. Previously, the Katy had considered locating the shops at Eddy.

Red Tape Causes Delay.

Following the acceptance by Waco of the railroad's proposition, A. A. Allen, president at that time, had retired, and E. C. Schaff, who had been named to succeed him, Mr. Allen, having considered his resignation for sometime, did not care to take the initiative relative to the shops, preferring to leave it to his successor. Mr. Schaff, upon becoming the head of the road, preferred to go thoroughly into the proposition before making a decision. His recent inspection trip through Texas during which he spent considerable time in Waco, was the final move on the road's part, and following his return to St. Louis, he closed the proposition.

Work of erecting the shops and terminals will be commenced at an early date, according to private advice to Wacoans, as the ground has been surveyed and all plans made for beginning the work. Contracts for construction will, of course, have to be accepted by the road, following which actual work will begin.

Helps Waco-Beamont Road.

Following the announcement of the Katy that it will construct the shops in Waco, a number of business men yesterday afternoon expressed an opinion that the road would not be adverse to taking an active interest in the Waco-Beamont road for which sentiment is being engineered by John Spurlin of Hamilton. Mr. Spurlin candidly admits that outside capital will have to be interested, and with the Texas Central, which the Katy will ultimately absorb, the road would be afforded almost a 500-mile line of track running northwest from Beaumont. With its north and south line through Texas, the Katy is prepared to take advantage of the opportunities afforded by the new road. Tidewater at a shorter distance then is now possible would be reached a vast territory, and Mr. Schaff has promised Mr. Spurlin an audience in St. Louis at an early date. He also conferred with him while at Dallas on his recent trip through Texas.

REDUCED RATES FOR FINISH AT BAYLOR

BRILLIANT ALUMNI RECEPTION
AT HUACO CLUB TO CLOSE SCHOOL YEAR.

Covered Grand Stand Planned for Athletic Field—Juniors Entertain Seniors.

Railroads have granted reduced rates to Waco for the sixty-seventh annual commencement of Baylor university, which will be held this year from June 1 to 5. While the attendance is good every year it will doubtless be more so this year from the fact that it will be held earlier before the weather becomes so warm.

Special interest will center this year in the annual banquet of the Alumni association that will be held at the Huaco club on the evening of June 5, when a number of the prominent sons and daughters of the university will join the local forces in celebrating the completion of the campaign for the endowment of Baylor. Special pains have been put forth by the program and arrangements committee to make of the event one that is worthy of the task that has been undertaken and one of the best banquets that has been held in years is anticipated. O. M. Weatherby, chairman of the arrangements committee, requests that as far as possible all visiting and local alumni engage their tickets in advance so that he may know how many to provide for.

There will be many events of interest in the general commencement program, however, which is announced as follows:

Saturday, June First.
3 p. m.—Inter-society exercises.
4 p. m.—Reunion of the Philomathean and Eriosophian societies.
5-6 p. m.—Band concert on campus.
5-7 p. m.—Reception and exhibition in the art studio.
5-7 p. m.—Students' reception on the lawn of Georgia Burleson hall.

9 p. m.—Reception of the class of 1912 into the Alumni association.

9 p. m.—Banquet of the Alumni association at the Huaco club house.

New Grand Stand Planned.

In the hope of providing grand stand accommodations on Carroll field for many years to come and to equip that field with ample bath house and dressing room facilities, Coach Ralph Glaze of the Baylor athletic teams is raising a fund with which to purchase the big grand stand at Gurley park, preparatory to its removal to Carroll field. The grand stand is covered, is practically new, and Mr. Glaze contemplates having it floored with concrete, so that baths can be installed and dressing rooms provided there. It is a need which has been long felt at the university and he believes the purchase of the grand stand will pave the way for the other needed improvements on that field.

At the meeting of the Athletic association this week, Keyser Herring of Mt. Calm was elected manager of the baseball team for next year and W. C. Grinstead of Houston was named assistant manager of the football team. C. F. Jones of Bryan had been previously elected manager of the latter team and has arranged the schedule for next year.

Varsity "Bs" were granted to the men of the spring athletic teams as follows:

Baseball—Mosley, McMahan, Little and Harrell, all old men, and Davis, Hutto, Henry, Wileman, Hooper, Collier, Mendenhall and Manager Love.

Track—Captain Ewing, Manager Skinner, Penrod, Jenkins and Ellis. Basketball—Mosley, Harrell, Cooke, Coleman, Henry, Ward and McConnell.

One of the events of the past week of interest in the student body was the annual scholarship contest of the Philomathean society, which was won by E. L. Smith, a young student of El Campo. Left an orphan at a tender age and running away from his adopted home because of cruel treatment, the young man has fought his own battles and at the end of his second year at the university has won three contests, having taken two new men's events in his society in addition to his victory of last week.

Represented at Convention.
Baylor has been well represented at the Southern Baptist convention at Oklahoma City the past week. President Brooks, Dean Kesler and Mr. Provence having attended as direct representatives, while a number of the leading delegates from Texas and other states were alumni and alumnae of this institution. Dr. Kesler has already returned and President Brooks is due to be back today.

While away from the city, Dean Kesler delivered the principal address at the commencement of the Britton Training school at Cisco and at the Bartlett high school.

Dr. W. W. Phelan of the department of philosophy and education delivered the commencement address for the high school at Rosebud Friday night. General jollification reigned on the campus at the university last night, the occasion being the annual reception to the seniors tendered by the junior class. The upperclassmen and all others in attendance forgot the approaching exams and other weighty matters for the time being and the occasion was one of much pleasure to all present.

Several graduating music recitals by individual pupils of the various professors will be held during the incoming week, to which the friends of the professors and students are invited without charge. The order of the recitals follows:

Monday, May 20—Miss Mary Anderson, organ.

Tuesday, May 21—Miss Birdie Bettis, piano.

Thursday, May 23—Miss Belle Pressley, piano. All are students of Prof. Rudolf Hoffmann.

Friday, May 24—Miss Sammie Cobb, violinist, pupil of Prof. Navratil, and Miss Lois Noble, voice, pupil of Prof. H. J. Spanell.

CAPTURE HEIR TO A SIX MILLION ESTATE

San Antonio Man Informs Joliet Brother of His Good Fortune.

By The Associated Press.

Joliet, Ill., May 18.—"You are heir to a six million dollar estate in England," were the magic words that Frank Jackson, a Joliet carpenter, received in a letter from his younger brother, John Jackson, of San Antonio, Texas, today.

The letter stated that Mrs. Mary Jackson, a childless aunt of Frank and John had died in Pelkington, Yorkshire. Under the old English law on "estate entail" the Joliet man becomes undisputed heir to the entire property. He is the eldest son of a brother of his aunt's husband. The only bar to immediate possession of the great estate is proof of his identity and Jackson says he will have no trouble in establishing that.

Whether the San Antonio brother will go to England with his fortunate brother has not been determined.

RETURN FROM CONVENTION.

The Rev. Colby D. Hall, pastor of the Central Christian church and E. Lynwood Crystal of the Fifth Street Christian church, have returned from Houston, where they attended the annual convention of the church. The next convention will be held in San Antonio.

TEXAS, BIGGEST SHIP OF WAR LAUNCHED

GREATEST OF SUPER-DREAD-
NOTHS OF ALL NAVIES TAKES WATER.

Monster Boat Cost Ten Million Dollars and Will Carry Fourteen-Inch Guns.

By The Associated Press.

Newport News, Va., May 18.—The battleship Texas, greatest of the super-dreadnaughts yet constructed for the United States navy, was successfully launched here today. As the big hull, gay with bunting, started down the ways, little Miss Claudia Lyon, daughter of Colonel Cecil A. Lyon, Republican national committeeman from Texas, crashed a bottle of champagne against the bow. There was cheering and the scream of steam whistles and sirens as the vessel gained momentum and finally plunged into the green waters of the James river.

Mightiest in the World.
In the super-dreadnaught Texas, the American navy now counts as its proud possession the biggest and most powerful battleship the world has ever seen. Other nations are trying desperately for the honor of owning the greatest warship, but it will be months after the Texas and her sister ship, the New York, which will be launched at the New York navy yard in July, have taken the water, before the monster ships planned to out-size the Texas and now under construction in

European ship yards, will be water borne.

It was deemed fitting that these two exemplars of the highest skill of the shipwright should bear the names of two warships which covered themselves with glory during the Spanish American war.

The Texas with all of her stores aboard, with display 26,367 tons or 1,000 tons more than the great dreadnaught Arkansas, now about ready for commission, is 573 feet long, 95 feet two and a half inches beam, so that she will have almost 15 feet to spare in passing through the Panama canal locks. Her draught will be 28 feet, six inches, and her speed 21 knots an hour, which would have been high speed for a cruiser a few years ago.

Has Reciprocating Engine.
A remarkable fact is that the 27,000-horse power required to maintain this speed will be developed in the case of the Texas by twin screw, vertical triple expansion engines of the old type, instead of by turbines, which have been almost universally adopted abroad in all naval construction. This machinery is installed because of the conviction of American naval engineers that the reciprocating engine is the most economical and reliable for battleship practice.

The Texas presents same features of interest entirely apart from her great size. In the first place her launching comes just about thirteen months from the date her keel was laid, a remarkable performance for American shipwrights and a practical demonstration of their ability to turn out warships as rapidly as any nation in the world under proper incentive.

Carries 14-Inch Guns.
In the second place, the Texas will be the first ship in the world to carry 14-inch guns. She will have ten of them distributed in turrets arranged on a central line from stem to stern. The biggest guns now afloat in the American navy are the 13-inch rifles of the famous old Oregon type, while the best that the British navy can do is to point to their 13.5-inch guns on their latest battleships. In addition to these monster guns the new American ship will carry no less than sixteen five-inch rifles in place of the little four-inch guns that were formerly regarded as sufficient for the secondary battery. The increasing size and power of the torpedo boat destroyers and the enormous speed of the chain lightning cruiser has brought about this doubling of the power of the secondary battery, which must be relied upon in meeting these attacks.

These guns will be clothed with armor in plenty, even the ordinarily exposed ends of the ships. In conformity with the new rules adopted by the navy department the details of its thickness and general disposition are withheld from publication lest the information might be of profit to a possible future enemy.

Far From Complete.

The Texas, after she is in the water, will be far from complete and she will not be ready to go into commission until December 17 next year. As she emerges from the builders' hands her total cost will be about $10,000,000.

The launching of the great ship drew to the yards of the Newport News Ship Building company a notable gathering of distinguished persons. Though President Taft was pre-

European ship yards, will be water borne.

A LARGE COMPANY AT FRIDAY NIGHT DANCE
There was quite a large assembly of Huaco club members for the Friday night dinner dance. The members certainly appreciate the semi-formal parties they are enjoying at the popular resort.

MR. AND MRS. GOODMAN AT HOME WITH MRS. A. SILVERS
On Wednesday afternoon between the hours of 4 and 6, Mr. and Mrs. Max Goodman will receive in honor of the confirmation of their daughter, Sadie, in the home of Mrs. A. Silvers of North Fifth. There will be no cards, but all friends are invited to call.

CHECK TO LIBRARY FROM CLUB WOMEN
There went yesterday as a gift from the City Federation and the Woman's club a check of $25 dollars for the public library. This was the remaining amount from the entertainment fund, and the women with one voice thought it would be more good in book circulation than in lying in an idle treasury during the summer. The Waco library has never been recognized by gift as similar institutions in other places.

MR. AND MRS. WALTER LACY ARRIVE ON MONDAY
There are many expectant friends over the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Garner Lacy at noon on Monday. They are not only welcomed home from personal pleasure in seeing them, but they return the first Wacoans ever to have made the trip around the world. Since their wedding in November they have been in continuous travel, six months consumed in girling our globe.

MISS ANDERSON HAS RECITAL IN CARROLL CHAPEL
On Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock the third graduating recital of Miss Anderson will be given. Miss Anderson has graduated from the Baylor vocal department, also the piano, so this is her final piano organ course. There is something especially appealing in the pipe organ, also, for a young woman to take such a course in this city is a novelty. Therefore, this recital will be of moment in the musical world. There are no invitations. All are invited. Miss Anderson leaves in a few days for a year's more advanced study in Germany.

THE SHAKSPERE CLUB HAS A SPECIAL SESSION MONDAY
The accustomed time for adjournments with the Shakspeare club came last Monday, but Mrs. R. B. Speger and her social committee suggested an outing for the club with guests. Therefore, it has been arranged that there shall be yet another Monday with Miss Friend. The play will be finally discussed, and the report of the committee heard relative to the outing. All members are requested to be present to discuss plans as well as to insure the selection of a time suitable to all.

MR. AND MRS. BARNEY FERGUSON ARE RETURNED HOME
Since their homecoming Mr. and Mrs. Barney Ferguson have found many friends noting their advent and cordial in their recent marriage, not only upon their return to the life long friends of the groom. They are keeping house at 2023 Gorman avenue since Wednesday. The ceremony, as was announced, was as quiet as possible. None but relatives were present, and there was an immediate homecoming. Mrs. Ferguson returns to friends made during her visit here, therefore, she is welcomed for herself as well as for being the bride of her regular high school husband.

THE HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS TAKE TEN STROLLS
In the home of the former, Misses Ruth Appel and Helen Arbuckle were hostesses to the high school seniors during Friday evening. The class is unusually large, which made this social coming together reach nearly the hundred mark. The provision for pleasure was both unique and acceptable. There were program folders on which a stroll was the substitute for the dance. Engagements for ten strolls with three extras were announced. The extras were for the public and the girls and the high school. The distance marked, and was to be to the couple who disregarded, all returned to the post from which a fresh engagement was filled. One especially pleasing provision of Misses Arbuckle and Appel was the patronage of the class dais for the first time this season. The natural blossom was freely used, and the suggestion found in the ice mold where a dairy queen lay on each brick of the yellow and gold. Among the guests by special invitation were the high school teachers. Senior life is strenuous just now in the face of "tests" and "finals," so this relation at the week end was hailed with delight. There was informal music from the class members, and a general good time. Never before was there such inspiration for a lusty high school yell.

Friday evening was the beautiful dinner party, complement from the groomsmen to Harvey Mac Richey and his bride-to-be, Miss Willie Seley. The lily was the flower and the fern the foliage, to decorate an unusually attractive table. The club chef excelled in his menu while the dinner party contributed a full quota of jollity. The dance in the club ball room was the aftermath. Those around the table were Mr. Mac Richey and Miss Seley, Messrs. Langdon Lucade, W. D. Lacy, Jr., Dero Wood, Jerome Cartwright, D. P. Lowry, Jr., Joe Willis and Harold Shear with Misses Karen Heard, Minniebell Webb, Alice Lee Boynton, Mary Glover, Marguerite Brown, Rosalie Sturges, Ida Orand with Mr. and Mrs. Ira Seley.

MISS SELEY SHOWERED BY MAY POLE DANCERS

There have been many bridal showers in Waco society, but none more beautifully conducted than was the one on Friday afternoon. This found Mrs. J. T. Planigan, a former neighbor, entertaining to courtesy to Miss Willie Seley as the next bride. Before the detailed plan was worked out so effectively, it was decided that pink and white should prevail. And it did prevail to a tasteful finish. The guest list honored Miss Seley's friends, maids and matrons. In all, the spacious parlors were filled. To arrive early and to assist, Mrs. Planigan had invited Mesdames J. M. King, W. W. Seley, Turner Hubby, C. C. Prade of Corsicana, Julian Prade, with Misses Grace Dyer and Isadore G. Hardy. These all appeared in pink or white frocks, the animated room setting to pink and white flowers every where.

The assembly made, a May pole was disclosed in the parlor and six young girls in pink and white took the same tone ribbons. Two tiny pages, one in pink and the other in white, Masters Turner Hubby, Jr., and James Terry, approached burdened under the load of their tissue pack ages. These they handed to the six girls, who, in a May pole dance, showed one by one Miss Seley, the queen enthroned in a coronation chair costume in a white lacy slip over a pink princess. A basket was beside her, and as she caught the friend ship offerings, these passed into a snowy heap in the basket.

In the meantime, the spectators were lost in their admiration of the pretty scene. The dancers were Misses Marcelline Flanagan, Josephine Foscoe, Alta Harrison, Katherine Latimore, Hazel Spencer, Mabel Olive. The next transition was to the punch bowl, where Mesdames C. C. Terry and James Madison, Miss Alice Lee Boynton, Miss Seley, Miss Mary Glover, the bride, and Mrs. James M. Trot in a few impromptu words, the girls left behind. This was a beautiful tribute from Mrs. Planigan to her young friends. And, more may be said, for it was enjoyable, every moment of it. Those present were, other than those mentioned:

Misses Nell Jurney, Marguerite Brown, Genoa Harrington, Jessie Harrington, Janet Gorman, Kate Edmond, Rose Edmond, Nettie May Wilkes, Hazel Jackson, Mamorie Beckwith of Houston, Minniebell Webb of Albany, Margaret Horsful, Maden White, Frances Lucade.

Mesdames Richard Monroe, Beauford McWhirter, Lee Dewey, Albert Borgess, J. T. Studer of San Antonio, Benjamin Dean, Adrian Moore, Irwin Colgin, Edward Drake, R. B. Kilgough, Jr., R. B. Caron, W. L. Geer, H. B. Mistrout.

ter, the talent of guest and club gave a very acceptable musical in the ball room. The Current Event colors are purple and gold, so the luncheon appointments took this tone. The flower girls were in the purple, the most admired the sweet pea. The place cards were folded verses, all menu squibs very cleverly turned through a lunch course from the welcome to the coffee. The committee under whose arrangement this courtesy from the Current Event was made possible were Mrs. J. H. Caufield, chairman, Mesdames J. H. Mackey, W. A. Morrow, W. M. Foster and Miss Ida Duke. Those who presented the musical numbers were Mrs. F. I. Howells, Mrs. B. B. McKeon, Miss Minnie Johnstone, Miss Bernice Mackey, and Mrs. Christine McConnell Rousseau of Nebraska. The names upon the place cards, other than those already called, were:

Mesdames J. D. Bell, Edward Rotan, George Willig, John Kendall, Robert Tolson, W. E. Darden, Hardesty of New Orleans, R. L. Matthews, H. B. Mistrout, J. W. Downs, Edmine Carrington, W. J. ## OLD SETTLERS HONORED BY THE COMMISSION

The last session of the commission, in a tacit way, paid homage to the work of the pioneers, the men and the women who first cast their lot upon the banks of the Brazos and endured the hardships which led to the city, the pride and the joy of their children's hearts. It has been repeated time and again that the Henry Downs chapter is reclaiming the Old Settlers. It was told just two days ago that Mrs. Edward Rotan had let the contract for the basin and the river projection and the steps which should give another beauty spot to our riverside. A note from Mrs. Rotan as chairman of the spring committee from the chapter was sent to the commission, requesting that the city assume the contract and thus honor the work of the pioneers of Waco. The commission responded promptly, and now it is they who will defray the expense while the Daughters bring to fruition. These who have made the test, report that the multiplication of drains upon the water resources of our under stratum has in no way diminished the flow from which the Huaco Indians took their first draught. A gush as large as a man's body is already at hand. When the basin is ready to catch this flow, the water will be released, and the children's children will have the actual sight which attracted the first settlers to this then wilderness. The men realize that the sight will do much to verify that all Waco is over a water supply. The utility purpose is self-evident, for many a thirst will be quenched by a weary country man coming over the bridge. The city will have another beauty asset. The riverside improvement will have a second beginning. This is all owing to the determined work of the Henry Downs chapter. Away back when the old city council existed this work was begun. Years have been spent in trying to remove the squatter from the property even after the property was finally turned over to the Daughters. There has been a Herculean task in clearing the spot. There has been digging and dredging to remove the stoppage at the mouth of the spring. There has been laborious labor in planting and sodding. But the end is at last in sight. The old spring will return, the sparkling water will gush as it did before there was a Waco, and the generations to come will call blessed the Henry Downs chapter for agitating and commission for furthering this historical asset to the city.

TWENTY YEARS OF SERVICE IS THE HOME'S RECORD

The present month marks the twentieth anniversary of the Home association. It is now in order for each and every one to send a piece of china in recognition of this significant china anniversary. For twenty years this institution has sheltered the poor, the unfortunate and the impetuous. For twenty years good women have administered charity under this roof. What a world of sorrow has this time concentrated, and what a world of gratitude has been expressed. The Home is an institution which relieves the immediate wants. In this it is worthy of charity. But the influence has gone far beyond the immediate necessity. Many a young woman has been sheltered from a worse temptation, perhaps has been saved from a life of the deepest degradation, by her opportunity to take shelter at the Home. The old, the crippled, the afflicted, the deserted child, all these have been received, given practical assistance, and sent out to take up the battle of life with renewed strength.

Organized in May, 1892.

In May of 1892 Miss Antonette Rotan, now Mrs. Frederick Patterson of New York city, gathered into her home a few from among the women of Waco whom she felt would be interested in the work which lay near her heart, the establishment of a refuge for those in temporary distress. The response from these women came and the Home was organized. Miss Rotan was president and Mrs. Katherine Risher, who has since taken the veil, was secretary. But later, years brought the charter and the right to conduct business as an association. In the meantime a cottage on Franklin street near the present Deaconess Home was engaged. Mrs. Rotan encouraged the women by donating ten lots on South Tenth street where the home now stands. Those lots have never been sold and remain a Home asset. Soon the work enlarged. It was first largely a charity, where tiny ones were kept while mothers worked out. Practical charity of other forms was administered. Then there was added an old woman's ward, a home for those whose time had rendered unfit to battle for daily bread. There are now more than a dozen superannuated inmates. In more ways than can be told this institution has lived up to that for which it stands, practical, temporary charity. The same faithful few have labored, but the many have shown their appreciation by annual donations. Thus the Home has come to be considered one of the permanent institutions of the city, and one which deserves support.

dollar has ever been expended injudiciously, and if records could speak it would be seen that not one in the many institutions of similar broad influence could have been conducted upon so economical a basis.

New Contributors Welcome.

As Waco expands and as city growth attracts the transient element, the demands increase. There are many new citizens coming into Waco, and these would do well to lend attention to this worthy charity. It is a twenty years' trial, and a twenty years' success.

Some Reminiscence.

It is indeed an interesting find to look back over the twenty years' records of the Home. In this, no charity plays a part, but there passes into review many now in the Great Beyond. Their memory for worthy deeds remains. Some are unknown to the newcomers, and yet their names are now to be proclaimed. Truly, charity is a memorial far more imperishable than marble, far more exalted than bronze.

There has chanced upon the writer's desk the first book in which a donation to the Home was recorded. The matron is required to submit reports monthly, and this book is the compilation from the first employed. In each, she tells of the inmates who have been sheltered within the month past. In addition, all donations are reported. The first gift so recorded was made by the late Mrs. J. C. Walker, who took from her own home chairs, a lounge and matting. The next was from J. R. Downs. And then came a piano from Mrs. Stokely Sladden, who passed to her reward only a few days ago. The next month shows contributions from firms, some have passed out of existence, but the first now here was Sanger Brothers. The next was Goldstein & Migel. The next Brothers and W. K. Finks, both now retired, are listed. And so on. It is really city history for the double decade to look over this book. We can not even recall who "My Store" was. But it shows that at once the good merchants responded.

We find that "Oil Mill" took down a load of cotton seed to feed the cow loaned by "Bill" Pogue, who has for years lived out at Albany. There passes quickly such names as Mrs. C. L. Johnson, Mrs. W. S. Heard, Mrs. W. A. Williamson, Mrs. George Clark. About that time, one notes the Kings Daughters and the Presbyterian Aid with kindred societies beginning to assist in the good work. Mrs. William Cameron, Mrs. John Horsful and Mrs. Woodson White were the first names who are still contributors. Twenty years of service to the Home from these good women. The first young girl whose name appears is "Johnnie Baker," now Mrs. Lloyd Tuttle, who sent toys, perhaps her very own. This was for a Christmas box, and into it the late Mrs. J. G. Winter placed fruit. We find Mrs. Maione, Dr. Halbert from his farm, Captain Gurley and other, near by sending in preserves, cord wood and such supplies. One

DETROIT TEAM STRIKES AND CLUB LOSES

AMATEUR PLAYERS JENNINGS PICKS UP HELP ATHLETICS RUN UP BIG SCORE.

Johnson Won't Renig—Sentiment Among Men of Other Teams Is With Cobb.

By The Associated Press.

Philadelphia, May 18.—Baseball history was made here today, when the players of the Detroit American League baseball club went on strike and refused to play the scheduled game with Philadelphia because Ban Johnson, president of the league, had refused to lift the suspension placed against Ty Cobb for striking a spectator in New York.

The Philadelphia defeated a make-shift team placed in the field by Manager Jennings by the score of 24 to 2. The Detroit team was made up mostly of Philadelphia amateur players with the addition of McGuire and Sugden, employed by Detroit as scouts. The regular Detroit players went to the ball park but when they learned after practice that Cobb would not be permitted to play, they returned to their hotel.

While the game was being played they discussed the situation and every one questioned said he felt that "the suspension of Cobb was an outrage and they would stand the ground."

Nothing Against Owners. The players expressed the best of feeling toward the owners of the Detroit club, but were outspoken in their criticism of Mr. Johnson. They said that if the matter is not settled they may go on a "barnstorming trip."

Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Americans, said tonight that Detroit had played a team in the field according to rules and Philadelphia had won the game. He concluded: "I know from my own experiences as a ball player that one gets little sympathy from the grandstand and far less from the bleachers and some of the things that a ball player is forced to listen to make one's blood boil in resentment; yet I think they can adopt more telling tactics than by going into the spectators' reservations and dealing out summary punishment."

"It's a good lesson for the club owners. They must realize that the players must be protected from insult," said Manager Jennings.

Asked if he had made a report of the New York incident to Ban Johnson, Mr. Jennings said that he had and that he also told him that Cobb was justified and that he knew several New York men who made affidavit that the language of the spectator was foul and insulting.

Johnson Firm.

"I am amazed at the attitude of Player Cobb and his teammates towards the American League, which, while insistent on good order, on the field and strict compliance with the rules of the game, has always extended consideration to and provided protection for its players."

"Player Cobb was indefinitely suspended on the report of the umpire in charge of the game in which this unfortunate incident occurred. This did not and does not mean that the order would remain in force longer than was absolutely necessary to make a thorough investigation of the affair. I did not fix a specific time for his ineligibility for two reasons: First, I did not know the exact time that would be required for the examination; secondly, until the investigation was completed I could not determine whether the player was guilty as charged."

Appeal to Umpire. "American League players who are taunted or abused by a patron has only to appeal to the umpire for protection against attacks from the grandstands or bleachers to have the objectionable party put out of the grounds. It has been put in practice in every park in our circuit and the policy will be continued."

"And it follows that there was and is no occasion for a protest at the suspension of Player Cobb by him or his associate as they could have obtained immediate and full protection by complaining to the umpire."

IN SYMPATHY WITH DETROIT.

By The Associated Press.

New York, May 18.—Members of the New York and Cleveland American League teams are in sympathy with "Ty" Cobb and the players of the Detroit club in the matter of the indefinite suspension of Cobb for his attack on a spectator at a recent Detroit-New York game here.

"It's part of the game for ball players to submit to personal abuse by spectators," says Harry Wolverton, manager of the New York club.

"It's hard to keep one's temper under such trying circumstances. Certain fans believe that because they pay to enter a ball park they have the right to insult players and umpires. The best way to square accounts is to pick out the tormentors and then nail them outside the grounds."

"If it were possible to print of the things said to players, the public would not condemn a man like Cobb for his recent assault. But as I say there is no way to show how players must bear insults heaped upon them by their inferiors."

Who Leucker Is.

The man who was assaulted by Cobb is Claude Leucker, a former pressman who lost one hand and most of the other a little more than a year ago at his trade. Leucker says that a shout of derision went up on a poor play by Cobb and that the Detroit player singled him out for attack.

Counsel for Leucker investigated the legal phase of the incident today and a law suit against Cobb for damages may be instituted.

"I was sitting with some friends just back of third base," Leucker said. "When the Detroit team came on the field there was a good deal of kidding and booing of Cobb. I did not hear anyone make a remark that was out of the way. It all seemed good-naturedly. I had on an alpaca coat and Cobb seemed to single me out at once for he yelled back, "Oh, go back to your waiter's job."

Under Doctor's Care. "The yelling at Cobb kept up. We could see that he was getting excited. Somebody shouted an unpleasant characterization at him. Then he came straight for me, followed by half a dozen players with bats in their hands. He hit me in the face with his fist, knocked me over, jumped on me, kicked me, spiked me and booted me behind the ear."

"When it was over some of my friends wanted me to have him arrested, but I did not want that done. He probably would have gotten off with a light fine."

THREE ARE KILLED IN A PISTOL DUEL

TRIO OF MEXICANS DEAD AND
AS MANY WHITES UNDER ARREST
AS PRUD RESULT.

Tragedy Occurred at San Diego on
T. M. Monday; General
Over Incorporation.

By The Associated Press.

Corpus Christi, Tex., May 18.—In a desperate duel at nine o'clock this morning at San Diego station on the Mexicana railway, sixty miles west of Corpus Christi, three men were shot and instantly killed and three are under arrest. The following were killed:

Pedro Romal, county and district clerk of Duval county.

Antonio Angulano, deputy sheriff and Candelaria Boone, all Mexicans.

Doctor Roberto, Frank Robinson and Charley Graves, the latter a Duval county ranchman living in San Diego.

The shooting came up over today's election for or against incorporation and occurred in front of the court house where voting is being done. The defendants made no attempt to escape and were arrested by Sheriff Tobin, Sheriff Mike Wright and posse who went from here in an automobile to the scene. In a long distance telephone message Sheriff Tobin said he feared a general feud would begin before noon. Excitement is at fever pitch.

One of the defendants, Frank Robinson, is a brother of Neil Robinson, the present democratic chairman of Duval county.

One report from San Diego, not verified, said the Mexicans who were killed later fired shots at Neil Robinson who was unarmed, and that Frank and Dr. Roberts returned the fire.

San Diego has 3,500 people, ninety per cent of whom are Mexicans. A probable pitched battle was averted by the arrival of Sheriff Hinnant of Jim Wells county and sixty Alice citizens, all whites, in automobiles.

The Robinson faction of the democratic party was said to oppose incorporation while the men killed favored it. It is said the shooting is the outgrowth of the assassination of John D. Clary, tax assessor, four years ago, for which Saenz was arrested but never tried. Charley Graves is ex-sheriff of Duval county. Men were ordered from Alice to San Diego. The situation is now quiet. The election was ordered to proceed.

The prisoners will be brought to Corpus Christi this afternoon. Later San Diego reports say the shooting was started by a fist fight between Neil Robinson and Antonio Angulano, in which the latter was armed and the former unarmed.

PRISONER MADE $300 A DAY.

The Paris police recently raided a financial establishment in the Rue Laffitte and confiscated the contents of the safe as well as the books, thereby putting a stop to the lucrative source of revenue of a banker named Zucco, who has been in prison for several months for irregular financial transactions.

M. Zucco, although occupying a cell, first at the Sainte and then at Fresnes, contrived to open another financial establishment in the same house as that occupied by his bank, which was closed by the police when he was arrested. From his cell he directed a scheme for getting small investors to subscribe jointly for lottery bonds.

Business went well. The new establishment was soon employing 10 clerks and M. Zucco in his cell was making about $300 a day. But dis-appointed clients informed the police. —New York Tribune.

WALTZ COMPOSED IN PRISON.

The principals in the Haverda murder case, a Hungarian cause celebre, have been employing their time in prison in writing musical compositions. Marie Haverda, who was tried for having instigated her lover to murder her mother in order to inherit her fortune, has published a waltz entitled the "Missi" from prison.

Anton Voster, the lover, who is undergoing penal servitude for killing Frau Haverda, has, with the permission of the prison authorities, sent a large bundle of manuscript music to his lawyer, with the request that a publisher be found for it. All the compositions are of a cheerful character. Another man, tried for complicity in the crime, is composing an operetta. —London Standard.

NEW JERSEY HAS NABBER TOWN.

A double-barreled title has been bestowed upon one of the wealthiest boroughs in New York. "Peapack and Gladstone" is the name of the combination borough, which formerly made two. There was an argument as to which of the two names should be dropped on consolidation, but no agreement could be reached and both were retained. In Peapack and Gladstone are the country homes of C. Ledyard Blair, W. J. Ladd, George R. Moale, Chandler W. Riker, Dr. Frederick Bull and other wealthy men. —New York Sun.

IRVING MULE ENJOINED.

Judge Kimbrough issued an injunction in the circuit court against a mule belonging to Jack Goodwin of Potomac, restraining it from braying and annoying the sleep and repose of Benjamin Wise, supervisor and publisher of the Potomac Record.

Goodwin, who was foreman of the famous vote-buying grand jury, keeps the mule in a barn adjoining the Wise homestead. It raised so much racket that Wise, after finding protests unavailing, sought an injunction. —Pittsburg Post.

Three Hetzels Mix It Up In Garbage Plant Dispute

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., CHIEF OF POLICE IN DIFFICULTY WITH BROTHER, A COUNCILMAN, IN MANAGEMENT OF MONOPOLY.

Special to The Morning News.

Connellsville, Pa., May 18.—George Hetzel, chief of police, is trying to dispose of his stock in the Connellsville Garbage and Fertilizer company, which was recently granted a ten-year monopoly in Connellsville by council. The chief says there is a conspiracy afoot to get him off the force and out of the company. His brother, E. U. Hetzel, is chairman of the police committee of council and wanted the chief to resign because he was devoting too much time to the garbage company's business.

The chief promised not to take any active part in the garbage company's affairs and refused to resign, but says he has to get out of the concern because he cannot attend any of the directors' meetings. He is a director, and so is the brother. As the directors never meet after 9 p. m., the chief says if he should happen to attend, his brother would go after his scalp. He is supposed to be doing police duty from 9 a. m. until 9 p. m.

E. U. Hetzel also complains that the garbage company's business is not being run right, because the secretary refuses to give him the combination of the safe. Chief Hetzel's other complaint is that the company turned down his daughter's application to be bookkeeper because it was getting to be "too much of a family affair," and proceeded to elect the relative of Henry Hetzel, another brother interested in the garbage company.

In the meantime the public complains that the rates charged are too high and threatens to bring the matter before Burgess Evans for adjustment. Under the ordinance the burgess has the final decision in all complaints, and some say this applies to charges as well as other matters. The garbage company doesn't agree with this view.

MUST PAY HIS RENT IN SPITE OF THE RATS

Even if Pests Make Apartment Uninhabitable, Says Court.

Special to The Morning News.

New York, May 18.—By a majority opinion the appellate term of the supreme court decides in a suit of the Harvard Realty company against Carl Bonwit, that the latter must pay rent in spite of rats, although in a dissenting opinion Justice Bijur says he believes that the condition under which the rats made the Bonwit apartment uninhabitable was under the control of the landlord, and for that reason the defendant was justified in refusing to pay his rent.

Justice Lehman, in whose opinion Justice Guy concurred, says that since it does not appear that the rats were introduced through any fault of the landlord, nor that he failed to try to rid the premises of the rats, the "tenant must continue to bear his obligation to pay the rent, however great the hardship."

OFFICERS TAKE HIM FROM BRIDE'S SIDE

Charged With Stealing Horse and Carriage in Which He Eloped.

Special to The Morning News.

Media, Pa., May 18.—After having married Miss Edna Lee Gallagher, of Wallingford, Clifford A. Thomas, a young farmer residing in Upper Providence township, was arrested and taken from his bride's side on a warrant sworn out by his father, John E. Thomas, a prominent Granger, on the charges of "running away," "elopement," and stealing a horse and carriage. Young Thomas was brought to Media and was permitted to go home with his father. The arrest was made shortly before midnight Saturday, and Sunday he returned to Wallingford to see his bride.

The parents assert that Clifford Thomas is a minor being 18 years old, and it is also said that the young lady is under age. The mother of Miss Gallagher made no objection to the marriage, and the ceremony was performed at her home by Rev. William E. Staub, pastor of the First Baptist church of Media.

Difficulties confronted young Thomas in his efforts. The office of the register of wills was closed and he drove to Morton and secured a license from C. W. Bishop, the register's clerk. He took an affidavit before Justice of the Peace William Munch that he was born on April 26, 1891, and his bride-to-be on October 20, 1890. He then drove to Wallingford, where the ceremony was performed.

The horse and carriage in which he drove to the place of wedding is claimed by the father of the bridegroom. Young Thomas drove back home in the team.

INVENTOR OF SAFETY MATCH ENDS FIGHT

Patented, Who Battled For Years For Share In Profits, Dies.

Special to The Morning News.

Cleveland, O., May 18.—Fifty years of vain striving to get a share of the immense profits from his two inventions, the phosphorus safety match which preserves its efficiency in the warm climate of the South, ended yesterday with the death of C. C. Sawtell, at his home on Hampden avenue.

After five years of work in a little shanty in a suburb of Milwaukee, Sawtell, back in 1861, perfected the composition of the phosphorus parlor match, which supplanted the sulphur match. He was then 25 years old.

As soon as his new match went on the market overtures for the sale of his patent were made to him by the Barber Match company, then located at Milwaukee, and known as the "match trust." Sawtell refused.

While he was seeking capital to finance his business his laboratories were destroyed by fire and he was forced, because of the dire need of his family, to sell to the Barber company. He went to work as "composition" man with the owners of his patent.

He saved enough of his salary to go south with his family to withstand the warm, moist climate.

When he perfected this combination ill luck again overtook him and robbed him of the benefits of his discovery. He had no money to get out of the country, which was beset with plague. The "trust" offered to buy his new patent. He sold.

He was 76 years old at death, which was due to apoplexy.

WOMAN "PHONE HOG" "IMPERILS CHILD'S LIFE"

Special to The Morning News.

Chicago, May 18.—Somewhere in Chicago is a woman whose willful refusal to interrupt her telephone gossip with a friend so that an ambulance call might be sent for a little girl may be responsible for the child's death.

Nora and Julia Crowley, cousins, 9 and 10 years old, respectively, were roller-skating on the sidewalk. Alfred Gebler drove a heavy truck on the sidewalk to avoid an approaching automobile. Both little girls fell under the wheels of the truck. Nora's left leg was torn off and her body terribly bruised. Julia's arm was broken.

Neighbors ran to help the children, and one dashed into a house and tried to telephone for a police ambulance, when a woman's voice snapped over the wire:

"I am using this line. Pray do not interrupt."

"Good heavens, madam! There's a little girl out here with her leg torn off. I want to get an ambulance. Let me have the wire!" exclaimed the man.

"Get off the wire; I am talking now," was the reply, and the man had to run several blocks before he could get word to the police.

It was long before Nora could be taken to the hospital, and the doctors say the delay might mean her death.

BARBERS WIN BY HARICUT THREAT

Special to The Morning News.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 18.—Threatened increase in the price of haircuts, made by the barbers through an organization hastily formed, has headed off the attempt to lay a heavy tax on barbers' chairs.

Councilmen planned to lay a tax of $5 on the first chair and $2.50 on every additional chair in each barber shop. The barbers rebelled and won.

HITCHCOCK WILL GO RUMOR NOW

LATEST REPORT POSTMASTER-GENERAL WILL JUMP INTO ROOSEVELT WAGON.

Is Becoming Afraid President Is On the Toggan For Fair.

By The Associated Press.

Washington, May 18.—Once more Washington is stirred by the report that Postmaster-General Frank H. Hitchcock will resign from the Taft cabinet and will go over to the Roosevelt bandwagon. Twice before this same rumor circulated among politicians and statesmen here, yet Mr. Hitchcock is still at the head of the Postoffice Department.

Whether or not the Postmaster-General resigns, it is well known among his friends and those of the President that he and Mr. Taft are not on cordial terms and that they have for months confined their relations to official matters. Each is inclined to distrust the other, yet expediency or something stronger has served to keep Hitchcock in the cabinet.

The first trouble between Mr. Hitchcock and his chief developed when Secretary Hilles was placed in charge of the pre-convention campaign for the president's renomination. The postmaster was not consulted in any of the preliminary political moves, and this caused friction for weeks. The president sustained Secretary Hilles in all disputes and this did not tend to smooth matters over.

When it became known later that Mr. Hitchcock was interfering in the Maryland and Virginia plans to deliver the votes of those states to Mr. Taft, the feeling of distrust increased. This went so far that the president sent for the postmaster-general and demanded to know whether loyalty might or might not be expected from him. Satisfactory assurances were given by Mr. Hitchcock and the ill feeling blew over.

A few weeks ago the reports that the postmaster-general would retire were so persistent that he felt called upon to issue a denial not only of that story but of all indicating that he meant to leave the cabinet to go into business or do something else.

Today officials in Washington and members of the House and Senate heard for a third time that Mr. Hitchcock will resign. This time he is said to be ready to go over to Colonel Roosevelt and assist in the remainder of the pre-convention campaign. Later, if the Colonel is

CATCHES BULLET IN HIS TEETH; NEARLY PLUGS ALL CAVITIES

Special to The Morning News.

San Bernardino, May 18.—After knocking out two teeth in S. Shradder's mouth, a bullet from a 45-caliber Colt revolver plugged the cavity with such accuracy that it required two hours' effort on the part of a dentist to take out the lead.

B. S. Shi-more, who did the shooting, is under arrest on the charge of assault to murder. The shooting was the result of a claim jumping episode near Gold Roads, on the desert.

Skidmore located the claim, which was later jumped by August Just, who disposed of the property to Carlin & Nelson. They sent a gang of men under Shradder to do development work. Skidmore had in the meantime returned to his property. He warned the party of miners to stop and all did so except Shradder, who continued to advance, and then Skidmore fired.

The bullet was clinched and flanged in the opening in the row of teeth so completely that it resembled work done by a dentist.

REPORTER WORKS WAY ON 28,000-MILE TRIP

Aspects to Reach Chicago From Coast Soon, Breaking Around World Record.

Special to The Morning News.

San Francisco, May 18.—Warren C. Woodward, a newspaper man of Chicago, arrived in this city on the oil steamer Winnebago from Japan yesterday on a journey in which he is attempting to break the record for working passage around the world.

With three other Chicago reporters, Boyden Sparks, Everett Miles and Gilman Parker, Woodward started the trip October 1, 1911. The party sailed from Boston on the Cymric, working as cattle tenders. Upon reaching London they secured work in a meat market. Here Woodward met with an accident to his arm and the compensation which he received paid the party's way through Germany. In London Woodward also had the experience of being mistaken for another man and arrested by Scotland Yard detectives as being an accessory to a jewel robbery.

The party used various means to earn their way, ranging from writing newspaper articles to doing song and dance acts in Brussels cafes. In Paris the party were three days without food before Woodward managed to secure a position as a window demonstrator of an American multigraph machine.

In Arabia Woodward visited Jedah, which is the nearest city to Mecca that non-believers are permitted to approach. As the natives in the city are inclined to treat white men a bit rough, he met with several exciting adventures. From Arabia he worked his way to the Straits Settlement and then to Japan, where he got a position as purser on the Winnebago.

Woodward expects to reach Chicago before June 1, which will be well under the present record of eight months and fourteen days held by J. Travers. He has covered 28,000 miles in his trip.

OFFICIAL CAN GO ON SECRET "SOUSERS"

Kansas Law Fails to Reach Prosecutor, Whose Jags Are Private.

Special to The Morning News.

Topeka, Kan., May 18.—It is perfectly proper for a public official in Kansas to get drunk as often and as much as he pleases, provided he does not do so publicly, in the opinion of John Dawson, attorney general.

The last legislature made drunkenness one of the offenses for which a public official might be removed from office. The opinion of the attorney general was given in a letter to Governor Stubbs, who requested that an investigation be made of complaints against a county attorney. The attorney general added that since the official was the only lawyer in the county, his dismissal would leave the county without a prosecuting officer.

Dawson held that while drunkenness is "immoral and improper," and especially so in a prohibition state, and by a county attorney, there is no law to cover the case of a man who does his "sousing" in secret.

DAME FORTUNE SMILES ON THIS TEXAS NEWSPAPER PUBLISHER

French Model Monoplane Owned by the Temple Daily Telegram.

George W. Williams.

E. K. Williams.

(Arthur Bennett in Denver Post.)

Let us rise and sing, brethren, because the story is going to be concerning Williams of Texas.

Chances are you never heard of this pilgrim, but somewhere or other you must have read about the regiment that has never been listed. Well, Williams is the colonel of that aggregation. He is the prophet, priest and king of the untamed and unafraid. Away back in somewhere, Williams' Scotch forbears crossed the border and played horse with the property and petticoats of bluff King Hal's domains. If there be truth in history, they were a swashbuckling, bear-cat crew.

But now, instead of mounting barbed steeds and emulating Sabine romance, we meet up with the seventh generation descendant, possessing a listenable line of language, a happiness to the psychological moment and a bucket or two of printers' ink. "O tempora, O mores!" because the story of Williams' invasion of Texas makes a border raid look like a May festival; therefore it is not fitting that inquisitive folk should glue their ears to the ground and listen?

Is a Texas Editor.

Williams is a Texas editor and these be the chronicles of the rise of literary endeavor down his way. To be conventional, they should read like a chapter from "Success." They might begin by telling how he studied history by the light of a pine knot and commenced active life in a grocery store at $2.50 a week, of which he saved $3.50. Ah, well, don't be disappointed, because Williams of Texas didn't do either. He started the grim battle blithely about 36 years ago in Southern Tennessee; as a boy he played nookie from school and was in a general way unconstructed. When he should have been burning the midnight oil he was tearing around the country to the music of the fox dour on an old gray mule. Staid fathers said that Williams was a "triffin' rascal," pillars of the church opined that he would come to an untoward end.

It will be seen therefore that the subject of this narrative was not overlooked by the handicapper, and broke from the barrier carrying weight for age. The real facts are that Williams was gunning for whales and wasn't wasting bait in mud puddles.

When it was time for him to go to work the siren song of the printing press sent forth an insistent call, and he fell for its lure. He learned the alpha and omega of a country daily. When the machine operator stubbed his toe Williams pounded out molds for public opinion on the Mergenthaler. When the editor fell by the wayside, the disciple took a stubby pencil in his trusty right hand and expounded the doctrines of Thomas Jefferson.

But one afternoon Williams felt called upon to send forth greetings to the purveyors of mushy platitudes, who decorated his community. He wrote an editorial loaded to the bulwarks with shrapnel and canister, but they weren't ready for a great message in that neck of the woods. No one had educated them to earthquake shocks, so Williams folded his tent after jarring the community until it rattled around like a superannuated threshing machine.

Gathered No Moss.

After that Williams started on a long pilgrimage. He knew that practical experience was the only road to success in the newspaper world, so he traveled widely, labored in many vineyards and being a rolling stone gathered no moss.

About four years ago one of the "old guards" told Williams about Temple, Texas. He found that a rich field was open to a morning paper there. He saw a territory with nearly a million people, waiting for exploitation, and decided that the harvest was ripe.

Of course, at that time Temple had two daily papers, the Tribune and the Herald in the afternoon—but Williams had learned things. He knew that all that ballistics needed was a liberal injection of the speed elixir and he took up his parole accordingly.

Williams' whole stock in trade was a healthy constitution, a cheerful disposition and $25 in cash. He pre-empted desk room in the office of a weekly newspaper and arranged to use the old flatbed press at night. Then he went across the street to a drug store and invested in a box of the best-looking blank promissory notes on hand.

There are three banks in Temple. Williams didn't know much about the methods of those who juggle with important money. He stepped into the first monetary institution, he came to and blithely requested a loan of $300 on his own personal unendorsed and unsecured note. The keeper of that particular bear trap came near fainting, and Williams cringed out on the wings of morning, his whole being purged with anarchy.

At the second his reception in no wise differed from that of the first because the only way to raise on an unsecured note in Temple is to bring along a can of dynamite. But Williams was undaunted. He stroled over to the City National bank where Charlie Campbell was presiding and smilingly laid a promissory note at ninety days for $300 on that gentleman's desk.

Started Daily Paper.

"I'm aiming to start a morning daily in this town," he explained, "and I thought I might as well stop by and get acquainted."

"What do you intend to do with this," queried Mr. Campbell, as he lifted the note gingerly.

"I just called to get it cashed," responded the embryo editor cheerfully.

"But it isn't endorsed, it isn't regular—not bankable paper at all, at all. Why, my dear sir, you must have something back of it."

"I've got all these back of it," retorted Williams. "I've got this whole book full of blanks, and I'm going to scatter them where they will do the most good."

Mr. Campbell leaned back in his chair and laughed heartily. "Well, of all the clients this bank ever had, you are in a class by yourself. Why, Mr. Williams, you almost persuade me to the doctrine of reincarnation, and that Macawber has come back on earth again."

"I'm glad you mentioned him," retorted Williams. "Everybody has been throwing rocks at him for years, but they all seem to forget that Macawber made good in the long run and—"

But just then a fox hound puppy crept from behind the banker's chair and Williams cut short his tribute to the hero of Dickens' masterpiece. With the trained eye of they who belong he took in the beauties of the young dog's lines. In an instant he was on the floor, with one hand under the puppy's jaw and the other passed lovingly over the rare muscles which emphasized his quarters.

"You're a dandy," he soliloquized, half to himself. "You're a proper fox dog. You might be some of that old Hirdsong breed, but you look more like that Trigg strain that Jack Chinn brought to Hardtown at the trials six years ago. Look at the depth he has through the heart and how his ribs are sprung. Then he has plenty of bone and a nice cast of foot. I never saw a dog with his paws spread all over creation that could stay the route," concluded Editor Williams.

Now, be it said in this place that Charles M. Campbell, president of the City National Bank of Temple, Texas, is a very human man. Where enthusiasts meet and converse concerning sports afield and dream dreams of a hunter's paradise, he is numbered with them of the thirty-third degree, so why should it be necessary to state that he rose in his place and extended the right hand of fellowship to the man who wanted a note cashed without security, but who knew whereof he spoke concerning a puppy, who might run a red fox to his finish single-handed.

Gathered $300 From Bank.

Williams got that $300 without further question. He started the Daily Telegram the next day and men who worked for him say he never missed paying off on Saturday nights. He got his paper on the early morning trains and beat all his competitors into his particular field. In two years he had paid all his original indebtedness, taken two partners, bought one of them out for $1200 and the other for $20,000. Incidentally, it might be mentioned that the other dailies went out of business.

Besides this, Mr. Williams has acquired and paid for a giant worth $35,000, and has purchased a 16-page, two-color Hoe press, not to mention a $4000 Mierlot monoplane, which is operated by his brother, George W. Williams, and is used for advertising purposes. Talk about a live bird? Why, this man Williams is a whole flock of soaring eagles.

Mr. Williams doesn't pander to any man or class of men. He doesn't fill his columns full of verbiage, nor yet does he throw their open to the noble army of cheap politicians with which Texas is infested.

"I never thought that political affiliation ever helped any paper in the long run," said he. "You receive a nickel and it is expected to bear interest at the rate of a million per cent. People don't want preachings nowadays. Neither do the mouthings of near-philosophers appeal to them. A daily newspaper is like a vaudeville show—the more it entertains, the better will be its patronage. I think it best to give them what they want, instead of forcing upon them what some highbrow editor thinks they should want. Every man has a game of his own that he likes best. A tramp once crossed the continent on the brake beams in eleven days—Demosthenes couldn't have performed that feat in eleven years."

So that's the story of Williams of Texas, a strenuous, whole-souled brother, who goes daily along, knowing down what he can't jump over in the way of fossilized opposition and comporting himself always like a man. Williams has a first mortgage on his future, because he is one of those that old Dame Fortune has singled out for extraordinary achievement.

EXCLUDES SOCIALIST FROM CITIZENSHIP

Civil Rights Denied to Man Because of Political Belief.

Special to The Morning News.

Seattle, Wash., May 18.—Judge C. H. Hanford, of the United States district court of Washington, has annulled the citizenship papers of Leonard Olsson simply because he is a Socialist.

This is the first case in the history of the country where a man's citizenship has been canceled by court procedure because of political opinions, and if sustained by the higher courts, may lead, in the opinion of many able attorneys, to depriving thousands of Socialists of the right of citizenship. It would even give the federal judges the power to deny citizenship to any person on account of political belief.

There is no way to remove Judge Hanford from the bench because he has barred a man from civil rights for having political views that do not meet the ideas of Hanford. Hanford cannot be impeached for this decision. There is no recall that can touch him. Appointed for life he belongs to the federal judiciary.

In his decision Judge Hanford said he annulled Olsson's citizenship papers because he "admitted he is a Socialist, a frequenter of assemblies of Socialists, in which he participates as a speaker, advocating a propaganda for radical changes in the constitution of the country, and because he entertained those views at the time he applied for his naturalization papers more than two years ago."

Hanford has been on the federal bench ever since Washington was admitted into the union. In contests of a public nature coming before him he has invariably decided against the people. It was Judge Hanford who attempted to block the recall of former Mayor Gill of Seattle, on the ground that the council did not include the cost of election about to be held in the regular budget passed months before. This decision of Judge Hanford's was made after the state courts decided in favor of the recall.

The fierce storm of criticisms stirred up by Judge Hanford's latest decision is like that which greeted his rulings of a year ago, when he issued a blanket injunction prohibiting the people of Rainier valley from refusing to tender more than a nickel fare within the city limits of Seattle, on the R. M. & N. Southern cars, although the supreme court of the state had already decided that question in favor of the people.

At that time there was a request asking congress to impeach him. He was hanged in effigy by angry citizens. For participating in a meeting of protest against Hanford's action prominent citizens were arrested, and three were in jail for a time.

Paris, May 18.—To take a bath only leaves one's skin in a dirtier than before, from the medical point of view. This is the melancholy opinion expressed by the leading microbiologists of the world, whose views are collected by Le Matin. According to these experts, who have been making a number of tests, the ordinary bath only multiplies the growth of microbes, which always flourish on even the healthiest skin.

Dr. Teidaka, the famous Japanese bacteriologist, for example, recently had three men bathe in clean water, one after the other, the bathers each time being thoroughly scrubbed with fresh water. All afterward were found to have three to four times as many microbes on their backs as previously.

Other scientists agree with the Japanese professor. One says that the idea of cleansing the skin from microbes by the application of soap and water is a pathetic delusion, as the bacterial flora is only stimulated and increased by these means.

MISSIONARIES TO AID FAMINE VICTIMS

SIXTY ENGAGED IN FURNISHING RELIEF TO SUFFERERS IN CHINA.

Two Hundred Thousand People Are Being Helped—Conditions Are Terrible.

Special to The Morning News.

Shanghai, China, April 18.—About sixty missionaries are now engaged in furnishing relief to the sufferers from the famine. Two men are assigned to every center where relief is being distributed.

Those in charge of the work say that the need is still very great as the committee has thus far been able to relieve only about 10 per cent to 15 per cent of the total distress.

The resources of the committee to date have been approximately $36,000. Those receiving help are required to work, but the amount that each family can earn is limited. The wages are 2 cents gold a day. If a man has three members in his family they are permitted to earn a total of 6 cents a day, or if there are four in the family, they may earn 8 cents.

The people respond willingly, even to these starvation wages, and the gentry themselves insist on keeping the rate down so as to relieve as many as possible. Two hundred thousand persons are being helped. The country in which the relief is centered has, much of it, been looted several times until it is in a condition of the most absolute destitution. The people have lost all their animals, and have sold everything that was salable. Thousands of them have torn down the roofs from over their heads and have used the thatch for fuel and sold the roof timber for a few cents to buy a little grain or bean cake. This bean cake is the residue of the soy bean left after extracting the oil and is generally used for fertilizing fields.

There is the probability of other famines in the not distant future, unless the government will undertake at once to provide money, even though at a comparatively small scale for reclamation works. Many will be entirely without relief even when the wheat crop is harvested, and only by the government furnishing work can this state of destitution be brought to an end. It is difficult to say how soon the government will undertake this matter, but the committee is in touch with many of the men who are in high authority, and will do everything in its power by means of the local press and by such influences as it may command to induce the government to undertake the work which only it can do.

Touring Europe---Belgium

ARAMINTA BRANSON ALSO SEES INTERESTING SIGHTS IN HOLLAND—CLEANLINESS OF CITIES HOLDS INTEREST.

Brussels, Aug. 19.—Arrived here last evening from Cologne and have comfortable quarters near Queen Louise avenue. Our stop in Cologne was so brief that in my last I omitted a few facts that are worthy of note, if not in order. It is the sixth city of the German empire and has 500,000 inhabitants.

We went out first to the art gallery and saw a poor collection, only a few pictures claiming my interest. Queen Louise's portrait by Carl Richter is the most noted. Prometheus and Eurydice (statuary) are fine. We soon left for the cathedral and were greeted with two signs over the door, "Beware of pickpockets." We enter free, but have to pay a guide. The two grandest shrines in the world are here, in the form of immense caskets under glass. They are Renaissance shrines of the twelfth century. The figures on them are gold in bas relief, set with gems, designating some era. The treasures of these vaults are enormous.

The towers to the Cologne cathedral are 500 feet from their base. It is crowned by numerous spires and is the grandest Gothic building in the world. It was used by the French, or Napoleon I., for a bay magazine. It took more than $1,000,000 to finish and restore it. It is 522 feet high and 132 feet long. Its stained glass windows are more numerous and prettier than any of the cathedrals I have visited. The 56 columns are the largest in the world, measuring 80 feet in circumference. These were such interesting points given us by our guide that I thought a second reference to the Cologne cathedral would not be amiss.

After breakfast we got out sight-seeing. On our way here, we passed through Aix-de-Chapelle, where Charlemagne died. It was his favorite residence. This is also where the treaty between France and Germany was signed after the Franco-Prussian war.

As I looked up just then I caught sight of a woman driving a cart pulled by a large dog. These poor animals, whom Americans value so greatly as faithful companions, are made beasts of burden in Belgium and Holland. They are not always kindly treated, either, being overloaded and not watered or fed as they should be.

August 19. First visited the palace of justice, which covers six and a half acres and is the largest in Europe. It has a chamber of government tapestry, representing a chief justice of each century in the history of Brussels. The building is a superb and imposing structure, embellished with black marble and malachite (green) marble from Russia. The art gallery is far ahead of Berlin, but we rushed through in such haste I have very little conception of its details. The statue of Narcissus, Ishmael and Hagar, Belgium's king and queen were very fine. Very much of the art is of the Flemish school, by Rubens, Jordans, Champaigne and Crayer. Albert, king of Belgium, and Elizabeth, his queen, by a modern artist, were conspicuous by their beauty. Elizabeth is a popular name with the royalty.

We went into St. Gudule's church, and having no guide were not so well entertained as to details. However, it has superb stained glass windows and is rich in ornaments. The carved wooden pulpit represents the expulsion of Adam and Eve from Paradise. It was a festival day of some significance, because in every church the Catholics were celebrating—some told me it was Franz Joseph's 60th anniversary and others said it was some church ceremony. Hundreds of candles were burning at noon, with the sun filtering through the stained glass on elaborate and gorgeous decorations.

Our last visit before lunch was to the Hotel de Ville, with its graceful tower. We entered through a fine court in time to see a bridal party departing. We were particularly interested in the hall room, as it was here, while a bull was in progress, that the booming of cannon was heard at Waterloo, 12 miles distant. Officers left the dance hurriedly, which threw consternation into the entire ranks of the assembly. Thackeray's "Vanity Fair," Lord Byron's "Battle of Waterloo," and Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables" each give a vivid description of the wild scene that transpired.

Flats are arranged overhead in this hall, which recount the various guilds or branches of industry in Brussels. The French and German languages are spoken, and French music is used throughout the kingdom. We visit the field of Waterloo this afternoon.

August 20. Had a charming excursion over the battlefield of Waterloo this afternoon. The lion monument crowning the huge mound in the valley may be seen miles away. There, on June 18, 1815, the allied army charged and fought two hours until the arrival of fresh Prussians to Wellington's relief resulted in the total defeat of Napoleon. The huge mound covers the allied dead, and was erected to their memory.

At Waterloo Napoleon vanished from the scenes of his greatness, but it took combined Europe to effect it, and had Grouchy, one of Napoleon's generals, obeyed orders, a change might have re-established him and Europe again felt his iron sway.

A neat, modest church is on the grounds, and behind a raised enclosure are marble tablets with the names of officers and men who fell on that blood-stained field. In the enclosure on the left is a life-size bust of the Duke of Wellington. The house in which he wrote his dispatches is still preserved. The well log of the Hougoumont farm has never been used since it was filled with the dead and dying from the battle field. Groans and piteous sounds were heard for days, until the voices were stifled by relentless death. The well is still paved with skeletons.

We ascended 226 broad stone steps, called in, to the top of the Mont du Lion. The mound is 200 feet high, 17,000 feet in circumference, and on its apex is a huge bronze lion 48,000 pounds in weight. Seats are arranged accommodating a hundred or more persons, who have a view for 20 or 30 miles. Birds build nests in the lion's mouth, not a bit intimidated at the hundreds who daily ascend and descend.

We passed a moment at the house near the battlefield in which Victor Hugo wrote his "Les Miserables," which gives a graphic and vivid word picture of the battle of Waterloo. Napoleon's headquarters have been converted into a low order of refreshment stand. Two monuments are on the field erected to the armies. The region around has been leveled several feet and the excavations used in building the monument. We leave for Antwerp tomorrow morning.

Antwerp, Aug. 21. Spent only a few hours here, but saw many curious and wonderful things. On our way we passed Manned, the home of the Bartholdi family. There, as everywhere in Europe, soldiers were in evidence. We arrive at Antwerp, the past residence of the Rubens family. The chimneys of the cathedral greeted us across the square from the Hotel de Ville (town hall). The elaborate carvings on railings and seats of this building were done by a prisoner in 1500 with a penknife. The work seems incredible. Ceilings are painted from Rubens, and murals are by the same artist.

The insukula of Antwerp's traders (guilds) are represented by carvings of statuary on the pillars. Hendrik Leys did much of the decoration. The most unique and weird place we went into was Calvary. We entered an enclosure between a strange avenue of rock work of ancient statuary until we reached a grotto at the foot under the entrance to the church said to be a true replica of the holy sepulcher at Jerusalem. At one side of it the torments of Purgatory are strangely depicted behind an iron grating. In the church (St. Paul's) are many pictures by Van Dyck, Rubens, Jordans, Trinters.

St. Jacques is the finest church in the city, with numerous and richly adorned chapels. For a long time the church was the burial place of the first families of Antwerp. Behind an altar is the chapel of the Rubens family. The altar painting is "The Holy Family," by Rubens. A brilliant example of the artist's master skill in coloring. In this picture Rubens introduces his two wives, his father, grandfather and son in the characters of St. Jerome, St. George, Martha, Mary Magdalene. He used his family as models in his "Descent from the Cross." This picture and "The Assumption" are kept covered and are only shown at noon and at 5 p. m.

"The Assumption" was painted after the Italian school of soft rosy and lighter tints. I had different ideas of the Italian school with its bright coloring. Rubens was paid 1600 florins for this and 2400 florins for "The Descent from the Cross." The first was painted in 16 day. The Belgians claim they taught the art of drawing to the English. Beautiful specimens are shown in this church.

A statue of the Virgin Mary is over the door. She is claimed to be the tutelary saint of the city.

In this church is one of the finest windows in the world.

There is a fountain on the square of Antwerp which illustrates the legend of the place. A giant lived in the harbor, who demanded tribute of all who entered it. He chopped off the hands of those who refused. A hero appeared who vanquished the giant. This hero stands triumphant on the apex. The giant fountain is an irregular heap of stones and figures resting on the outstretched handless body of the giant. The spray gushes in every direction, filling the air with its crystal drops, while the hideous face of the giant peers from beneath.

Came through Michline, where the filmy Michline lace is made.

The cathedral is the largest Gothic church in Belgium. Rubens' "Elevation from the Cross," "Assumption" and "Resurrection" are all in this church. Many other pictures by good artists are also here. The church of St. Jacques contains the tomb of Rubens and Van Dyck and other artists of the Flemish school have about 1000 pictures in the museum.

Napoleon I. designed Antwerp as one of the greatest maritime ports in the world and improved it greatly to that end, but his downfall changed its destiny.

The Hague, Aug. 22. As soon as we reached this place we took the street car for Scheveningen, two miles distant, on the shore, where worlds of people were bathing. The bathers are drawn out by a horse in a little room on wheels, fitted up as a bath room. He is drawn back when he finishes his plunge and then takes a sun bath in a basket chair on the sands. Many sit or roll themselves in the clean sand, a performance altogether undisturbed by a stately gentleman or dame.

Our first visit this morning was to the "house in the woods," the queen mother's home. Queen Wilhelmina lives in the castle at Asselt, but with her little girl, the future queen of Holland, she makes a visit to her childhood scenes every day; she loves it and engages her baby in the romps and sports of her own babyhood to develop and strengthen its little lungs and growing limbs. There is a Chinese and a Japanese room, filled with rare bric-a-brac and expensive furnishings, the presents of the two emperors.

The ball room is where the white peace conferences have been held. The entire room is compactly lined with Jordans and Rubens paintings—unlike anything we have seen. A small door opening into this room has allegorical representations of Peace, through which the peace ambassadors passed. The electrolier in the Japanese room had cups on inverted swans over each bulb. The queen's tea room was a Chinese boudoir. China and Japan were the first countries to make a peace treaty with Holland, hence these presents.

The ball room has beautiful mural paintings from the life of Frederick Henry I. Motley, an American, wrote the history of Holland and is given an honored niche in this room.

The next attraction was the picture gallery, which is rich in the best examples of the Dutch school. Here are the world renowned Paul Potter's bull, "The School of Anatomy," by Rembrandt, and "Presentation in the Temple." The peace palace is between The Hague and Scheveningen, a magnificent avenue lined with grand buildings, with floral embellishment for two and a half miles. Italy has donated the marble windows, Holland the foundations and France the decorations. We all know what one American, Mr. Carnegie, has done in giving his millions. I was disappointed in not being able to visit Madame Renner's feline studio. She makes a specialty of cats. I couldn't find the address in the city directory and no one could direct us.

The Dutch are only loyal to their queen, who is a thoroughly identified Hollander. The country is 25 feet below the sea level, but is well protected by artificial dams and dykes. It is intersected by numerous canals on which are windmills. These mighty giants, propelled by the winds, keep busy pumping the surplus water into the sea.

The lower part of many of these windmills furnish comfortable habitations for families, as well as a means for grinding cereals. Their neat muslin curtains flutter in the breeze and impart something homelike to these castles of the air. The cattle are the most contented and lazy beasts imaginable. They lie on the margins of the rivers and canals and chew their cud, or roam over the magnificent meads, perfect exemplars of beastly happiness.

Although the Netherlands lie between 50 and 43 degrees latitude, their winter sports are skating, coasting and ice festivals. The women skate to market with their produce, sometimes from The Hague to Amsterdam, a distance of 30 miles. The people are generally as scrupulously clean, not only in the interior of their homes, but I have seen them sponging the whole exterior on scaffolds and sweeping the roofs. In some instances they wash and comb their cows. I must say the island of Marken was somewhat of an exception. We come to that further on.

Amsterdam, Aug. 23. Have been on the go since 9 a. m. and a very charming day we have spent. Visited Edam, Marken and Broek. We were shown the process for making the delicious Edam and pineapple cheeses. Row after row had been turned out on ice shelves under the same roof where the cows' stalls and cowboys' sleeping bunks were. They were on opposite sides of the corridor. The floors were covered with clean sawdust and they evidently were milking stalls. The cows are milked at 6 in the morning, and cheese from the milk are ready at 4 in the afternoon. The pineapple cheese is shaped by banking the curd in twine netting and tying the upper end in an oblong shape. The curd presses naturally through the meshes and forms the imitation scales. These cheeses are painted after they have dried sufficiently and shipped from a station called Edam, hence their name.

Marken is a very quaint fishing island, the inhabitants retaining the most primitive customs. It will at ways be the same, as it and the neighboring islands (called dead cities) pride themselves on their dress, traditions and customs. No marriage, I am told, is permitted to other than an inhabitant.

We had novel transportation. There were two parties, Cook's and one other, who took dinner on the island and came back to Edam in a tow boat drawn by two men and a little boy. At a station on the canal we took a tram, lastly a steamer to the train. We ate a good American dinner at Marken, served by pretty Dutch girls in native costume. The best cup of coffee have had abroad was served here.

A great part of Amsterdam is built on piles 50 feet under the water, driven and lifted by huge derricks. It is the cleanest city in Europe. The chief attraction in Amsterdam is Rembrandt's "Night Watch" in the Ryks gallery. Two years ago an insane man thrust a cane through its center and it was thought to be irreparably ruined; but the restoration is perfect. It occupies a room alone, as it is so large. Seats are arranged for visitors to study it at their leisure. Israels had just died at The Hague (1911). His paintings, of course, will now leap into fame, like Watts and other artists after death. It is a sad commentary on the age that it takes oblivion to bring out one's good points.

We take the boat at 9 o'clock and after an all-night passage across the channel land in London for breakfast.

ARAMINTA BRANSON. SEEKING GALLOW'S WORK. MRS. GRACE HYSTERICAL. Jailor Shows Indicted Woman How Murderers Die. Atlanta, May 18.—As a result of being shown how the gallows works, Mrs. Daisy Ulrich Grace, under indictment for shooting her husband, was thrown into a faint in the Atlanta jail this afternoon and is still hysterical tonight.

Mrs. Grace was lonely and asked the jailer to show her over the prison. The well-meaning official, trying to cheer her, took her to the gallows room. Here he exhibited the black cap and showed her how the noose is adjusted. For her benefit the trap was sprung, and she was told how, with the pulling of the big lever, the condemned man's body falls six feet into space, bringing up with a jerk which nine times out of ten breaks his neck.

As the jailer sprang the trap Mrs. Grace screamed, "Oh, I can't stand it," and fell in a faint. Physicians were called and revived her, but she says the picture of the gallows is fixed in her mind.

$1000 REWARD. We will pay $900 reward for any information leading to the recovery of goods stolen from us on Dec. 29, 1911, or a proportionate amount for information leading to the recovery of any part thereof. An additional $100 will be paid by the Jewelers' Security Alliance for the arrest of the burglar. Address J. Levinson, Waco, Texas.

SAYS DRY STATES DON'T ENFORCE LAWS

UNITED STATES INTERNAL REVENUE COMMISSIONER ADDRESSES LIQUOR MEN.

Most of Illicit Stillies Are in Prohibition Territory, He Says.

Philadelphia, May 18.—Before the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' association in the Bellevue-Stratford yesterday, Royal E. Cabell, United States commissioner of internal revenue, in an address, declared that violations of the liquor laws are most extensive in prohibition states, and that in such states no efforts are made to enforce the antiliquor laws except for spectacular or political reasons.

The address was the most important of the first day of the convention.

Commissioner Cabell said that the government receives $229,000,000 internal revenue annually from the liquor interests, a sum sufficient to pay the army and navy and the interest on the public debt.

"By the end of the year," he said, "we hope to reduce the number of illicit stillies by 75 per cent. It is a fact that last year the government agents captured 2471 of these, while there were 973 registered distilleries in the country. It is significant that the majority of the illicit stillies were found in states or territories known as dry or under prohibition laws. We found 901 in Georgia, 449 in North Carolina, 249 in Alabama, 375 in South Carolina and more than 300 in Tennessee, Oklahoma and part of West Virginia.

Says Dry Laws Are Not Enforced. "Officers in prohibition states make no effort to enforce the laws governing or regulating the liquor traffic except for spectacular or political reasons."

Joseph Debar of Cincinnati, secretary of the association, launched his shafts at the Webb-Kenyon bill pending in the two houses of congress, which are designed to prevent the shipment of liquor from wet to dry territory. It was declared that a shipment from one wet state to another might be held up by a single complaint under the provisions of the act. Mr. Debar attacked the Anti-Saloon league in connection with the measure.

Another arraignment of the Anti-Saloon league was made by Morris Westheimer of Cincinnati, who said: "The activity of the league in causing continual agitation without accomplishing anything toward a solution of the liquor question forces the wholesalers, retailers and distillers to remain in politics for the protection of the millions of dollars invested in the business."

"No men on earth are less anxious to break into politics than the saloon men. They are in politics when menaced. To expect less than this natural defense of natural rights would be to place our people in the category of the supernatural."

Attack on Bills in Congress. Mr. Westheimer assailed the federal law for what he said is a deliberate attempt to extort, merchants who sell liquor, regardless of the law. The passage of the Webb-Kenyon bill, he said, would prevent the shipment of liquor for private use and for pharmaceutical use, and entail many hardships and would be a gross injustice. Representative Haskin of New York before a session of the meeting of the American Laryngological, Rhinological and Otolaryngological society.

Dr. Haskin made the remark at the symposium on orthodontia in its relation to the nose and throat, and his statement caused considerable interest in an afternoon of purely technical discussion.

"Haste is the motto of the American," said Dr. Haskin. "We see the expression of it in automobiles, express trains and flying machines. We are affected by this malady even at birth. The baby, even, is not given a fair chance for natural development. He is fed on a bottle instead of naturally, and is thus handicapped through life."

"Haste has partly brought about this bottle feeding. Much of the evil of this practice could be avoided if ordinary precautions were taken, namely, attention to the nipple of the bottle. If only a small hole were made in the nipple the infant would be forced to use its masticatory muscles. But there is always an unnaturally large opening. The infant takes the milk easily in gulps, indigestion follows and all the diseases that are due to lack of mastication."

"We spend time and money in removing adenoids and tonsils in children to help them in breathing through their nostrils instead of their mouths. We could do much better by giving the baby a chance to grow without these obstructions by doing away with the bottle."

New York Millionaires Are Scrambling to Pay Taxes

NOVEL SPECTACLE OF WEALTHY MEN LITERALLY BEGGING TO BE FIRST TO PAY TAXES.—OTHER EVENTS IN GOTHAM.

Special to The Morning News.

New York, May 18.—As a result of the introduction of a new system of collecting taxes, New York is now enjoying the unique spectacle of a mad scramble among her many millionaires to see who shall be first to turn into the city coffers the money due on their large holdings. Heretofore, particularly among the more wealthy, the annual city tax has been an item to be sworn off if possible or falling this, to be paid at the last possible moment. But by the new system, Father Knickerbocker has succeeded in hitting the ultra-wealthy in their most sensitive point, that is the pocket-book, and as a result has them actually begging for an opportunity to discharge their obligation in this connection to the city.

The new system is so simple that it is surprising that it has not been tried before. It consists merely in making taxes payable in two installments, six months apart with a proviso that there will be a rebate at the rate of 4 per cent on the second installment provided it is paid with the first. As this amounts to more than 1 per cent on the whole tax for a year, a figure considerably in excess of the tax rate, the result is that the largest property owners are making every effort to get their money into the hands of the city as rapidly as possible. On the first day of tax collections under the new system a line nearly a sixth of a mile long obstructed the sidewalk in front of the collector's office and of the $150,000,000 due it is estimated that more than twenty million dollars were paid in.

How different this situation was from the old one under which delays and regulations until the last moment were the chief feature is indicated by the fact that in spite of every effort it was impossible for the city officials to check up and deposit more than one-fourth of this amount. Ten million dollars in collections were received during the first two hours after the opening of the office, and so great was the rush that the clerical force, numbering 75, was literally swamped. Altogether if the first day collections under the new plan is an indication of its efficiency, it will not only be continued in this city, but doubtless copied widely throughout the country.

Immigration Tide Changes. The latest tabulation of figures at this port serves to accurately indicate one of the changes in the vast tide of immigration that flows into the United States from Europe every year which has puzzled and alarmed students of this subject of late. More than four-fifths of all the immigrants arriving here fifty years ago came from the countries of Northern Europe, with Germany in the lead, whereas at present an equal proportion comes from Southwestern Europe, with the Slavonic races and Italy supplying fully three-fourths of the total. Many studies have been made many theories advanced to account for the change. The latest of these is put forth by an expert who has just returned from a prolonged study of economic conditions in Northern Europe.

While it seems somewhat startling at first blush, agricultural authorities here agree that it is well founded. This observer asserts, in short, that the responsibility for changing the current of European immigration so remarkably rests with no more formidable an agent than the sugar beet, which he points out has revolutionized the agriculture of Germany, and to a great extent of all Northern Europe. "The reason the Germans and their neighbors formerly came flocking over here," he says, "was because their fields couldn't produce enough to feed them. Since that time they have through systematic use of the sugar beet in rotation with other crops, and, as this enables them to live comfortably and even prosperously at home, naturally they have stopped seeking new countries. The sugar beet industry is not adapted to Southern Europe, and consequently there has been no such agricultural improvement there, and the people of these countries are crossing the Atlantic in steadily increasing numbers."

While the knowledge of these facts may not help us much in changing the character of our immigration, we may at least profit by the lesson of Germany and by encouraging the cultivation of the humble beet suitable for our declining agricultural production so that we will be able to feed our rapidly increasing population for a long time to come.

Chinatown Mourns. Chinatown is in deep mourning because of the loss of its most sacred dragon, said to be the second largest in the country. It was not, however, a modern St. George, but merely a fire which brought about its untimely end. Neither was the dragon a real one, but an enormous creation cunningly made from papier mache and various kinds of oriental cloth, cunningly lighted from within which the Chinese in this city have been accustomed to carry in the street parade in connection with the New Year's celebration.

Unfortunately for them the dragon was quietly reposing in the basement of a building in the shopping district, awaiting the next parade, and when this building was attacked by fire the pungent smoke from the stock of Joss sticks, Chinese incense and other inflammable substances dear to the Celestial nostril because of their pungency, was so thick as to render any attempt at rescue impossible. Only the great dragon in San Francisco exceeded the lost one in size, it is stated, but it is understood that before the next Chinese New Year rolls around there will be a new dragon larger than any yet heard of.

Those Pearl Bedecked Hats. That feminine styles during the coming season may demand that women literally be covered with jewels from head to foot is now indicated here by the arrival of the first pearl-bedecked hat. Only a few weeks ago the appearance of slippers with diamond studded heels created much interest here and now the milliners have apparently decided that if woman can afford to wear diamond heels on her slippers, she ought to be able to wear a hat with a diamond crown or a hat with a crown of black and white pearls for her hat. At any rate, the new headgear has arrived, the only one so far noted being a black affair with rows of black pearls, and valued at something like $5000.

The mere fact that anthropologists have stated that this style of head dress originated with the prehistoric Australian bushman has apparently caused no worry to its creator, and among a certain few who can afford to and always take up the latest thing in fashions, it will doubtless enjoy a temporary popularity. It is also likely to work a hardship to many theater-goers, since it seems probable that few women will be willing to remove from their heads hats which may ultimately cost anywhere from ten to forty thousand dollars.

May Have Japanese Park. From now on visitors to the tomb of General Grant on Riverside Drive will behold the latest material evidence that the yellow peril is a figment of the alarmist. This evidence is in the form of 2500 cherry trees and a large bronze tablet commemorating the gift to the city of New York, through Dr. Jokichi Takamine of Japan. The ceremony attending the internment of the yellow peril was unique in the annals of the city. In the presence of the members of the Japanese legation at Washington, the governor general of Korea and many Japanese of note, to say nothing of the usual throng of kindergarten girls, armed with small shovels, planted the last thirteen of the 2500 trees.

During the ceremony was played the music of "Sakura, Sakura," the Japanese cherry tree song. The small agriculturists and guarantors of peace with Nippon concluded their part of the program with a solemn Japanese folk dance. Park Commissioner Stover declared it to be the intention of the city to have the cherry tree orchard called Sakura park, to be dedicated next September if the city fathers agree.

HEART-BROKEN WIFE TRIES TO END LIFE.

Mrs. Eaton Drinks Poison Because of Husband's Alleged Coldness.

Baltimore, May 18.—Heartbroken because she believed her husband's love for her had grown cold, Mrs. Mary Eaton, the 18-year-old wife of Walter Eaton, 1419 South Charles street, early this morning drank about two ounces of chloroform liniment as she stood in the doorway after her husband had left for work.

Calling her mother, who was upstairs, she told her what she had done, and then fell to the floor. Mrs. Eaton's mother ran to the door and called Patrolman Mark, who had Mrs. Eaton sent to Mercy hospital in the southern district ambulance, where she was attended by Dr. Hogan. She is reported to have a good chance of recovering.

On the sidewalk in the dining room was found a note, which read: "Dear Husband, I have stood my feelings long enough and cannot stand them any longer. My heart is almost broken. I have found out your love for me has faded and what for I cannot tell. You know you are tired of me, and I cannot please you any longer. I hope you will find one that loves you as I have, but I am afraid not. If you only knew now I love you."

"Take good care of Wade. Kiss him each night and try to think of me, who will not bother you any longer. Good-by forever."

"Your devoted and heartbroken wife, MARY."

"P. S.—Please do not leave Wade. Take care of him and take him with you wherever you go, and God will take care of you."

VIGILANTES LAND ON MANAGER OF GOLDMAN

ANARCHIST LEADER MADE TO ABANDON LECTURE AND LEAVE SAN DIEGO.

Inhuman Treatment Meted to Ben Reitman, He Says—Black-Is-Branded.

Special to The Morning News. Los Angeles, May 18.—Emma Goldman, anarchist, and Ben Reitman, her manager, reached here today after a night of rough treatment at the hands of armed vigilantes at San Diego. Reitman was taken from his apartment at the San Diego hotel, placed in an automobile and hurried nine miles from San Diego, and given, it is said, a coat of tar and feathers.

The letters "I. W. W." (Industrial Workers of the World) were burned on his back with a lighted cigar. He was left with his railroad ticket and money, but virtually no clothes.

He reached Bergamo, 25 miles northeast of San Diego, after waiting all night, bought clothes and finally landed in Los Angeles. Emma Goldman was escorted to the railroad station in an automobile after deciding to abandon an attempt to lecture in San Diego.

Describing his treatment today, Reitman said: "The men who captured me at the hotel looked like business men. With their revolvers placed against my body they forced me to go with them. While taking me to the place of torture they thrust pencils in my nostrils and ears and stuffed filth in my mouth and struck me with clubs."

"When they reached the desert another party was waiting. They stripped me and began such torture that the details are unprintable. I was ordered to sing 'The Star Spangled Banner,' and I cannot sing very well, so at every false note I was knocked down."

Reitman said he was forced to run the gauntlet of men with whips, then he was thrown to the ground, smeared with filth and a small American flag was forced down his throat until he nearly strangled. The men torturing him discussed putting his eyes out and decided not to do so, said Reitman.

DEPLORES IGNORANCE OF ANCIENT THINGS

Writer in Classical Journal Is Inspired by "Flunking" of Lake Forest Boys.

Chicago, May 18.—Lake Forest academy boys, who recently ranked through the fields of art and science in the course of a general knowledge test of 100 questions, are achieving new fame as horrible examples to the learned world. The students failed to name the twelve disciples, "flunked" on the eloquence of Helen of Troy and generally scandalized the ancients, are academically frowned upon in an editorial entitled, "A Generation That Knows Not Joseph." In the current number of the Classical Journal.

The writer of the editorial deplores the fact that one of the brightest of the Lake Forest pupils asserted that the disciples were Matthew, Mark, Luke, John, Peter, Paul, Simon, Judas, James, Nebuchadnezzar, Luther and Agamemnon. "This, he thinks, is as bad as the answer of a certain college student to the question, 'What were the apostles?'"

According to the classical scholar, examples of ludicrous and pitiable ignorance of biblical personages, stories and teachings may be met with on all sides, while knowledge of ancient art, ancient history, mythology, philosophy and poetry is in possession of the few. The moral attached is that if the modern American loses the spiritual and esthetic part of the past, "we shall be beggars in the midst of our vaunted wealth."

The protesting educator declares that it is possible to keep an interest in remote persons and things and still be familiar with automobiles, wireless telegraphy, airplanes, electric toasters and curling irons, forest conservation, presidential primaries, the initiative, referendum and recall, arts and crafts, manual training, typewriting and domestic science.

"Our ways of feeling and thinking, our minds and our imaginations are all directly beholden to the past," he affirms. "Our literature and our very language are so permeated with both biblical and classical conceptions that neither the one nor the other can be rightly understood without a knowledge of both these ancient sources."

WILL HIS HEART MUST BE TAKEN FROM BODY

Barby Resident Had a Fear That He Might Be Pierced Alive.

Special to The Morning News. Media, Pa., May 18.—Declared by his relatives to have feared burial alive, John Henry Krueger, late of Barby, brought in a will probated in the office of Register of Wills Krueger provides that his heart should be removed from his body. The direction, it is said, was carried out.

The clause of the will reads: "It is my will and I hereby order and direct, that an autopsy be made on my body, the heart removed and the body embalmed before it is placed in a vault or ground. As the persons who are to be benefited by this will are fully cognizant of and perfectly understand my wish in this particular, I hereby declare that I am due to carry out this order shall annul the remaining portion of this will, and it will be void, the same as if it shall never have been written."

INDICATIONS. "Don't tell me that girl is used to the best society." "What makes you think she is not?" "Why, if you notice, she is polite to everybody she meets."—Baltimore American.

Chicago, May 18.—Champion Pugilist "Jack" Johnson's attempt to compromise a government charge of smuggling a diamond necklace into this country has ended in failure. He has been notified that if he does not pay the full value of the necklace and the regular tax, which will amount to about $5000, suit will be brought against him.

Johnson recently deposited $5000 with the federal authorities and requested that the amount be accepted and the smuggling charge dropped. He insisted that similar compromise had been effected by others.

The pugilist avers he bought the necklace in this country, but he has failed to name the man from whom he says he purchased it.

SOCIAL SEASON IN LONDON TO BE GAY

SPORTING PERIOD ALSO WILL BE FILLED WITH EVENTS OF INTEREST.

Young Arab Girls Serve Against Italians, Caring for the Wounded.

Special to The Morning News.

London, May 18.—For the first time in three years London is really itself, and everyone is looking forward to an interesting social and sporting season. In 1910 the death of King Edward restricted the usual gaiety and last year the coronation overshadowed the ordinary spring and summer season.

The season was formally opened last day of April, when the king motored to Newmarket for the inauguration of the real first racing season. For Ascot the king and queen will entertain at Windsor.

Besides the anti-British exhibition, the annual horse show will take on its old-time prestige. The naval and military tournament will be followed by the international flower show at Chelsea, which has been organized on a scale to eclipse anything of its kind ever given here. For the first time in the modern history of social London there will be two opera houses giving grand opera.

The greatest sporting event of the season will be the triangular battle for cricket honors between English, South African and Australian eleven. There will be nine test matches, and after their showing in Australia last winter the English players are entertaining high hopes that the championship will remain at home.

In the purely social realm, many number of great hostesses will signalize the return to normal conditions by giving balls. Among these will be Mrs. George Keppel, who has spent but little time in London since the death of King Edward. She will give a ball to introduce to society her daughter, Miss Violet Keppel. The Duchess of Devonshire will entertain the king and queen on derby night, and the Duchess of Norfolk, Portland and Wellington will entertain at balls.

One of the events of the season will be the One Hundred Years Ago ball, which will be given for the benefit of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Help society. All attending the ball must appear in costumes of 1812, and it is expected that the result will prove striking. The Empire, another charity ball, is also expected to be a great social success.

Commander Eva Booth, leader of the Salvation Army in America, has arrived here to arrange with her father, General Booth, the itinerary of the American tour which the veteran army chief expects to make some time this year. No definite steps in this direction will be taken, however, until after General Booth undergoes an operation on May 23 for the removal of a cataract from one of his eyes. The sight of one eye is totally destroyed, but his physicians have assured the general that unless unforeseen complications arise, they will be able to restore the sight of the other.

At the present time General Booth can barely distinguish outlines, and he feels his affliction keenly, for he is extremely fond of studying the faces of his audiences. His total blindness in one eye was due to his impatience, for, after an operation had been performed on it for the removal of a cataract, he made a motor tour, during which he removed his goggles to get a better view of the crowds which surrounded his car at every stop. The light and dust caused inflammation, which resulted in a total loss of sight, and it was with the utmost difficulty that the eyeball was saved. His remaining good eye at the time had begun to show signs of a cataract and it has continued to grow until an operation is necessary to prevent absolute blindness.

Apart from his eye trouble, General Booth is enjoying splendid health and on his coming American tour, which will be one of the most extensive he has ever undertaken, he will preach almost every day.

Much has been heard here recently of the exploits in Tripoli of the Amariyehs or Menders, the young Arab girls who are fighting in the desert to stem the Italian invasion, but nothing definitely has been learned of this amazon adjunct to the Turkish fighting forces until the return of a correspondent who has been with a large force of Arabs in the desert for some time. The girls are between the ages of sixteen and eighteen and they derive their name from their duties, which are to mend the courage of the falling, to rebuke the wavering and inspire the brave. They also bring water to the thirsty in the foremost ranks of the warriors, and in performing this service many girls have lost their lives. They are the best substitutes that the Arabs have for Red Cross nurses and they bear the dead as well as the living from the battlefields, another service which has taken toll in many of their lives.

The Duke of Sutherland, who is now in Canada, claims to have interested other members of the British aristocracy in his favorite plan of buying and subdividing Canadian farm land for settlement by British farmers. In this connection he recently said: "We want to keep Canada for Britain by sending out British emigrants. If we don't do this Canada will be lost to the British empire within five or six years. We cannot shut our eyes to the consequences of Canada being flooded with American settlers."

FINDS BODIES OF CHILDREN IN FEEDBOX

Two Little Boys, Disappeared Weeks Ago, Are Discovered Dead.

By The Associated Press.

Cincinnati, May 18.—The bodies of the two little boys discovered in the feed box of the horse stable here today turned out to be the bodies of Robert and Urban Nichols, the two who disappeared from their homes on April 8.

The boys' father found their bodies. He had dipped a shovel into the feed box and when it came in contact with a little foot, startled, the father Nichols tugged at the foot till the body of a small boy was yielded. Sure that he had found one of his missing sons, Nichols worked away until he found the corpse of the other.

When the children disappeared on April 29 it was feared they had been kidnapped by a band of gypsies and taken into the Michigan sugar beet fields. No trace was found of them in the north, however, and the search was continued until it took in almost every big city in the country.

It is believed the boys came to their death while playing about the big feed box. Evidently they fell in and were overwhelmed in the mountain of grain and were suffocated.

GOETHE FORESAW CANAL.

Special to The Morning News.

London, May 18.—Price Collier, writing from Berlin, sends the following letter to the editor of the London Spectator:

"In your issue of April 13 under the heading 'Britain and the West Coast of South America,' there is mention of the German emperor's reported advice to an American engineer relating to the fortifying of the Panama canal.

"As early as 1827 a German poet dreamed the dreams that are now realities. In 'Goethe's Conversations with J. P. Eckermann,' under date of Feb. 2, 1827, Eckermann gives an account of the conversations in which Goethe regrets that he will not live to see what he prophesies as the probable first building of a canal by America at Panama and of a second canal at Suez, which will probably be controlled by the British."

"Further, he tells of the probable growth to the west of the United States and the necessity of cutting through of such a waterway.

"Very few Americans dreamed in 1827 of such things. Very few Englishmen dreamed in 1827 of the control of the Suez canal. No doubt the German emperor himself, as your readers, will be surprised to learn that the German poet, nearly a century ago dreamed for us our destiny."

GEORGIA PUTS BAN ON ARTILLERY PUNCH

Special to The Morning News.

Atlanta, May 18.—The famous Chatham Artillery punch, which has served to make Savannah known wherever drinks are mixed and which has put to sleep many prominent men in the country, including presidents and generals, has received its knockout.

The news was brought to Atlanta today by Governor Brown, who has just returned to the city, after attending the Hibernian banquet in the city by the sea. The famous brew was not in evidence on that occasion.

"It has got so they wouldn't drink punch in Savannah," said Randolph Anderson. "If they did they were afraid they couldn't get back to their hotels. So the good old stuff had to go."

Notwithstanding the passing of the punch, the recipe for it is still a secret of the Chatham Artillery.

MAN KILLS HIS OWN ORCHARD FOR SPITE

KANSAS CHOPS DOWN TREES RATHER THAN SPRAY THEM AS ORDERED.

Special to The Morning News.

Wichita, May 18.—The stubbornness of a wealthy fruit grower of this county and the ruling of the state board of horticulture, compelling every horticulturist in districts affected by the San Jose scale to spray his trees, has caused the destruction of an orchard here of 5,000 trees, which netted the owner, S. W. Balch, an average of $10,000 per year.

Mr. Balch is cutting his trees, which consist of apple and peach trees, in preference, he says, to spraying them. He was ordered a few days ago to spray them by the state supreme court.

A Kansas statute gives the state entomologist authority to inspect private orchards for San Jose scale, and to order the owners to spray the trees. Mr. Balch's orchard was found infected by the scale two years ago, and he was ordered to spray his trees. He refused to do so, and the state entomologist ordered his deputies to do the work and to assess the cost of the work to Mr. Balch's property.

However, when the entomologists arrived at the orchard, they found Mr. Balch camping there with a shotgun. He threatened to shoot any who entered his premises and attempted to do any spraying.

Balch was arrested on two criminal charges, one of threatening to kill and the other of refusing to allow his trees to be sprayed. The former case was dismissed and he appealed the latter, in the meantime obtaining an injunction preventing the state officials from entering his orchard.

The supreme court recently decided the spraying law was constitutional, and Mr. Balch was ordered to spray the trees.

Balch prefers not to keep the trees. He is an experienced fruit man, and claims the prescription of the state entomologist will not kill the scale, and that it is too expensive to be profitable if it did kill it.

"No court on earth," he says, "can make me spray my trees if I don't want to do it. I'll quit the tree business first."

Prof. S. J. Hunter of Lawrence, state entomologist, says if the spraying is done before the trees bud in the spring, the chemical will kill the scale without injuring the tree.

BELGIAN GIRL DETECTIVE.

How Her Wish to See Scotland Yard Was Gratified.

Special to The Morning News.

London, May 18.—A girl of 19, who, armed with a huge six-shooter, had traveled all the way from Antwerp for the avowed purpose of seeing Scotland Yard, was arraigned at the Bow street children's court this week charged with being in possession of money stolen abroad.

A woman detective of the National Vigilance association stated that she had met the prisoner at the Liverpool street station and had asked her in French whether she could be of any assistance. The prisoner, whose name is Madeline, had replied that she did not want any help, but that she had come to England to see her brother, who lived in Newcastle.

Asked for her brother's address, she said she did not know it, but he would be waiting for her at Newcastle station. She said she had come to England for a fortnight, and her mother had given her money for the trip.

She afterward confessed that she had stolen about 300f from a safe in her parents' house at Antwerp, and she had in her possession 5 pounds, 10 shillings in English money and some foreign coins.

Asked what she did for a livelihood, the prisoner at first said she was an actress. She afterward stated that she was in a society connected with detective work, and thought she would like to see Scotland Yard. She wanted to know the inspector of Scotland Yard was, and intimated that she was well able to protect herself.

She was taken to the secretary of the National Vigilance association and afterward to Scotland Yard.

The magistrate sent the girl to a remand home for a week, in order that the police authorities at Antwerp might be communicated with. On this being interpreted to her, the prisoner, who seemed surprised at the kind way in which she was treated, smiled her thanks to the court.

LIVING BABY BORN AFTER MOTHER'S DEATH

Special to The Morning News.

New York, May 18.—The world's first baby boy to be born after his mother's death is now a patient in Fordham hospital, full of vitality and apparently destined to a long life. By a Caesarian operation the child was delivered, physicians at Fordham hospital assert, ten minutes after the mother died of apoplexy. The boy weighed eight and a half pounds.

The case is said by physicians to be without precedent and most startling, as showing that life persists in the organs following the phenomenon of death.

WROTE TO MOTHER BEFORE ENDING LIFE

Young Man Found Dead With End of Gas Hose in His Mouth.

Special to The Morning News.

Baltimore, May 18.—"Break news to mother. Ask them all to forgive me. I love my home and had everything that I wanted, but could not stand these spells."

The man who wrote these lines on a postal card, and then stuck a rubber tubing in his mouth, after he had attached the tube to a gas jet, was found dead in a third-story room in a furnished-room house kept by Mrs. Mary Raabe, 628 North Calvert street, this morning. The postal card was addressed to "Miss Mary Baigalunip, Washington, D. C., R. F. D. No. 1, Station H." It was signed "R. S. H." and the same initials were inscribed on the golf cuff buttons worn by the suicide.

The man, who thought of his mother and his family before he turned the stopcock that allowed the poisonous gas to flow into his lungs, evidently had prepared to kill himself before he entered the house, for the rubber tubing had been in his small valise. There is not another piece of rubber tubing in the house. The prospective suicide went to Mrs. Raabe's house about 10 o'clock yesterday morning, engaged a room and was not seen by any of the occupants until this morning, when John Smith, a colored servant, detected the odor of gas, opened the door of the room and found the suicide with the end of the tubing in his mouth. Smith turned off the gas, opened the windows to let out the poisonous fumes, and the police were notified.

T. R. FACTION FROM GEORGIA HOLDS CONVENTION

Atlanta, Ga., May 18.—Eight delegates at large with one-half a vote each were named today by the Roosevelt faction of the Georgia republicans who held their state convention here today. Four are white men and four are negroes. They were instructed to vote for Roosevelt as long as his name is before the national convention.

In response to the roll call, about one hundred and thirty delegates answered to their names. No more than twenty-five of them were white men.

J. L. Weaver, former state senator from Gilmer county, was temporary chairman of the convention. Judson W. Lyons, former registrar of the treasury, was the permanent chairman.

The convention was entirely harmonious until an effort was made to have the delegates at large named by a committee. R. M. Crosby of Dekalb, one of the white delegates objected to the methods of selecting delegates but he was overruled by the convention. The resolutions adopted by the convention, strongly extolled Colonel Roosevelt and denounced the administration of President Taft.

THE TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION.

The annual gathering of the editors of Texas is an event of much moment to the members of the Texas Press Association. And it is also an event of much importance to those who do not attend the meeting, for, upon the thought and upon the ideas that emanate from the brains of the editors of the state depend its destiny. A casual reader who does not give the matter serious consideration does not fully appreciate the power of the newspapers of Texas. If the newspaper men of Texas are good and pure in thought, imbued with civic pride and filled with patriotic sentiment, the public mind will be molded in like thought. It is very important, therefore, that those who wield the pencil in any state have in their hearts a genuine love for those things that tend to uplift the human race. There is a wonderful power in the constant influence that emanates daily from the minds of the editors of the state. People believe that they do their own thinking, when, in reality, they get their ideas unconsciously from what they read in the daily papers. As a rule, the editors of Texas are men with lofty ideals, generous impulses, noble aspirations and an earnest desire to uplift and elevate. Under the influence of their direction Texas is pushing ahead, and as the years unfold, she is exhibiting commercial activity, civic enthusiasm, religious tolerance, educational pride, and all those qualities of heart and mind that are necessary to goodness and greatness. As the newspapers are, so shall a state be.

One reading the proceedings of the Texas Press association in session at Temple can not but be impressed with the unquestionable integrity of those men and women who are editing the papers of Texas, and, under their direction and guidance, Texas can not help but progress in every department of worthy endeavor. Once a year these people gather together, exchange ideas and discuss problems of mutual interest. Each succeeding year finds the press, because of these meetings, a little cleaner, a little purer, a little abler, and just, a little nearer a realization of the fact that the only true purpose of their existence is service. And well may all the people of Texas watch with pride the gradual evolution of this ideal, for it means that out of it shall come a higher standard of citizenship and more universal happiness. The time is coming when the people generally will more fully appreciate the value of a press guided by men with big brains, kind hearts and a full appreciation of the aims and purposes of life. Except the teachers who mould the dawning thought of our little children, and the mothers, around whose knees children learn the lessons of truth, honesty and purity, no other one thing is half so important in shaping the destiny of this world as the daily press.

BIRD LANGUAGE.

It is admitted that there are "sermons in stones," and that the "morning stars sang together." There are songs without words, as Mendelssohn and other masters have taught us. Our feathered songsters sing sweetly and only recently a violinist of note toured Texas, giving his wonderful interpretations of their matchless melody, but as yet no one has given us word meanings of their notes of liquid melody. Our savants have spent lifetimes digging in the tombs of an historic people and devoted years to a study of the hieroglyphics found on pottery and statuary that they might discover their language; yet no one has given us the language of the birds. Those who love birds have certainly noticed that they have a meeting note, a love song, the chirp of cheer for their young nestlings, their notes of despair when robbed of their young, and many other expressions as clearly understood by man as if they were in spoken words. Is it not strange, then, that some one has not given us a word language for our beautiful friends?

Dallas is getting ready for the Associated Advertising Clubs of America, which will convene in that city next week. Decorations are being rapidly put up, and all the various committees are getting ready to give the delegates a royal welcome to Texas. It will be a notable gathering of men who make the commerce of the United States move along rapidly through the medium of publicity, and they will be the means of inspiring many timid advertisers with the powerful force that is behind judicious publicity in newspapers, the mediums that go into the homes every day, telling their story to those who read the papers. Texas is very glad to have the delegates representing the Associated Advertising Clubs of America with her, and every city will strive her utmost to leave a good impression, so that when the delegates return to their homes they will be so pleased with their visit and their entertainment that they will want to come back again, and they will continue to tell others of the hospitality of Texans. There will be some notables among the delegates, and every citizen of every city they visit should strive to give them the most hearty welcome of their lives.

There are many domestic tragedies in this life just because the husbands are so busy with the affairs of business, engaged so earnestly in money making that they forget the little courtesies and the little attentions that are absolutely necessary to keep the fires of love burning brightly. Human nature is just the same that it has always been. Women like to be thought of and loved and petted, and the husband who forgets that vital fact and becomes so absorbed in the grind of money-getting will some day find himself face to face with a tragedy, and a ruined home will be the consequence. Some women are strong enough to continue to live as devoted wives to men who forget and neglect them, but most of them are so intensely human that they yield naturally to the desire for attention and affection. Who blames them? Surely they are entitled to that which the husband promised to give them. Money is a very small consideration in the game of happiness. It will buy power, but it can not compel love. If you wish to have love, you must do some loving yourself.

THE DECREASE OF VARIOUS MALADIES.

There are some new maladies nowadays, 'tis true, but through science and other helps we are doubtless losing as many or more than we gain. Then inventions are minimizing the manual labor of man to such an extent that muscles formerly strained and nerves over-taxed are now, like the family horse, being relieved. A single instance of this sort will serve as an example of this: Those who have continuously used pencil or pen are familiar with the physical discomfort, even paralysis of the muscles so overtaxed. Nowadays the pen is laid aside for the typewriter, and the former trouble can be entirely averted. The Linotype eats copy so rapidly that the operator wishes typewritten sheet, both for its easily read lettering and because so many more words can be put on the sheet, saving both time and trouble in laying aside "dead" copy. So there is no real good reason that one should punish himself with writer's cramp when typewriters are so generally available. Men may not like newfangled inventions, but they are a blessing to all who will avail themselves of the conveniences and aids to lessen the drudgery of work. Another ailment which has almost become a lost art is the former popular custom of fainting, as practiced by "my ladye faire." To faint used to be as commonplace as to have chills and fever. Now, where is the maiden of today who faints gracefully on any and all occasions? She is so sadly in the minority as to be an unknown quantity, while bright, healthful sister goes in for all kinds of athletics and a general good time. Artesian wells of deep, pure water have replaced the springs and surface water, and "chills and fever," or "ague," belong mostly to a dim and distant past. And so it goes. Things are improving. Formerly we spread our peaches and apples to dry on any convenient roof, mayhap the barn, and nowadays we wouldn't look such a dried apple in the face. No, our fruit must be evaporated under the most sanitary conditions. And the "swat the fly" campaign will reduce much typhoid fever and the spreading of other contagious diseases. Between science, sense, sanitation and invention we are going to lessen or entirely eradicate many evils of disease which are today a deadly menace.

WASTED ENERGY.

There is a tremendous amount of energy wasted in anger and bitterness. After life is all summed up, and its short days are numbered, what does it avail any one to fly into a frenzy and say harsh, unpleasant things about others whom they are compelled to meet as they go about their business? It seems that it is just as easy to differ with people, have your own opinions, cling to them positively and faithfully without doing mean little things or saying unkind words about others. If one wants to realize how very short this life is, all he has to do is to look backwards, and note how rapidly the years that are behind have flown by. In a few years this mortal life will be over, and what happens after we are gone concerns us very little. What happens while we are alive is what counts to us, and it is very important in the pursuit of happiness, and that is what we are all after, when life is fully summed up, that we make as many others happy as we can, and create just as little discord as possible.

There are some people who spend their time in finding fault with others, saying nagging things about their neighbors, criticising their friends and making life generally unpleasant for those with whom they associate in the affairs of this life. They do not get much real satisfaction out of life, and they do not let others get any. There is enough of this wasted energy expended every day in any city in any state in the union to help many a weary traveler over a rough and rocky road if expended in the right direction. If you are one of those who make a habit of saying unkind things about your neighbors, you will find that you will be much happier if you will stop it, and commence to look for the good traits of character in those you meet, for every human being has a good side, if you will only try to find it. If you look for the disagreeable side, you will be sure to find it, and what you have done that is worth while when you find it? Talking unkindly about other people is a disease, and the more that it is indulged in, the harder it is to quit.

When a politician who has been in the habit of taking everything in sight in primary conventions gets in the minority, he pleads for fairness, but he does not expect it.

OUR JUDICIARY

BY ELBERT HUBBARD.

Copyright, 1912, International News Service.

There is a popular cry just about now for honesty in advertising. And the one magazine that has most to say about honesty in publicity has recently widely advertised a series of articles that purport to be an exposure of a corruption in our courts of law.

From the spreading headlines, the brazen bazoo and the loud ballyhoo, one was led to expect a startling condition, now for the first time opened up to public gaze.

Any one who buys a copy of this magazine expecting to get his money's worth in way of exposure will have good grounds for demanding his money back.

Read Spaulding on Testimony and you will find that the value of a witness' statements depends upon who the witness is. That is to say, you must get his point of view in order to know whether he sees a wildcat or the trouble is merely a fly on his eyebrow.

The whole flavor of the article is that of whipped out disappointment. Having failed as a lawyer, the author turns state's evidence, hoping to retrieve his hazard of lost fortunes. His mental attitude is that of the escaped nun. His article is a petition in mental bankruptcy.

The belinking lawyer is no better than the belinking business man. An employer could just as well make an indictment against his workmen, giving a list of their faults and foibles, as this lawyer can bring an indictment against the judiciary by combing his memory and imagination for the lapses of courts.

Experte post-mortems on lawsuits should be left to the fledglings in every big law office—these boys that get around in the morning, and while they are dusting the furniture, try the cases of the great men who show up at 10 o'clock.

Every village railroad station, grocery and blacksmith-shop has this contingent that sits in judgment on the action of its betters.

Emerson speaks of the inmates of almshouses who sit in the sun and gravely discuss the president's policy.

This lawyer-author seems to be a has-been or a never-was.

If lawyers were debarred from heaven, this man would probably find no trouble in getting in and keeping his seat.

His whole line of argument is revealed in this statement: "There is widespread, growing distrust among business men of our courts which manifests itself in a tendency to arbitrate, compromise and keep out of court at any cost."

That wise business men keep out of court when they can is true. But they keep out not because modern judges are corrupt, but because litigation is non-productive. It disturbs and breaks in on one's peace of mind so that compromise, with a known loss, is very much better than litigation with its uncertainties.

I believe the quality and calibre of our judges are higher today than ever before in history, and any judge, anywhere, will advise business men to settle their own disputes.

The business of a good lawyer is to keep his client out of court.

Judges are men, and as such they are liable to mistakes and errors. As we get better business men, we get better lawyers and judges. Indeed, it often happens that commonplace men lifted to a judgeship are inspired mentally and spiritually and placed on their good behavior as never before. They are more sober, more discreet, more judicial in all of their actions. The position of a judge makes him superior in character to either lawyers or clients. Lawyers may be for sale, but this man is not.

The success of a judge does not consist in catering to this party or that, but in interpreting public opinion wisely and well, and in bringing common sense to bear in his decisions.

This popular magazine that has endeavored to boom circulation by making an attack upon the courts all along the line has overshot the mark.

The first installment of this exposure of the judiciary, so widely heralded, is deadly commonplace in both literary style and subject matter. It is without the saving soul of wit and is devoid of wisdom.

I prophecy that the second article will not appear.

There is no greater mistake than the thought that a man can be happy on money acquired by the oppression of others. No person can take the dollars wrung from the toil of others and purchase that peace of mind necessary to happiness. To be happy one must be honorable, and one can not be honorable unless he renders value received for everything he acquires.

If one does not believe that men are largely imbued with the gambling spirit, all he has to do is to read over the large list of candidates for congressman at large.

It is true that a fool and his money are soon separated, but that is no indication that some other fool will not get it.

KIDNAP CHILD FROM MOTHER ON STREET

Snatches His Own Child From Its Mother's Arms and Runs.

Special to The Morning News.

Muskogee, Okla., May 18.—Cries of "For God's sake, save my baby!" startled the theater-goers last night as across the Katy tracks ran a mother in pursuit of a man who, a moment before, had torn her 11-months-old baby from her breast and dashed up the street.

Mrs. E. Hall was on her way to her little room last night, where she has lived with her baby for the last several weeks, since leaving the home of her husband, and had gone east on Broadway to the block in which is the M. K. & T. depot, when her husband passed along beside her and grabbed the baby from her. The man at once darted off, closely followed by the mother, but she was unable to keep up with the man, and after he reached Cherokee and turned south, she saw no more of him.

She at once notified the police and was told to get out a warrant of arrest, charging the man with kidnapping. She did.

The police early this morning found Elmer Hall, the husband, with the child, hiding in the home of a friend on South Cherokee street. Hall declared that he saw the baby in its mother's arms every day and he could not stand it. When he passed her with the child, he felt his heart yearned so for his baby that he seized the child and ran away, he said.

Hall is being detained by the police.

JUDGE FOR THE RECALL.

Special to The Morning News.

Chicago, May 17.—Unqualified indorsement of the recall of judges was given by Judge R. H. Wainmaker of the Summit county, Ohio, court of common pleas, in his address here before the Illinois Bar association. He based his position on that section of the federal constitution which gives legislatures the right to impeach. The legislatures, he continued, had failed to perform that function, so the right now reverted to the people.

Judge Wainmaker said that much was wrong with the courts. What he classified as the seven most serious grievances against the courts today follow:

Too much delay.
Too much expense.
Too much idleness of ancient precedent; the more ancient the more sacred.

Too many trials and appeals; the disadvantage of the poor and the advantage of the rich.
Usurpation by courts of legislative right and power.

Too much regard for rule; too little regard for reason.
Too much jugglery of the technical pleader; too little justice for the client.

"Who is responsible for this?" queried the speaker. "The judge the court, chiefly the court of last resort, whose decisions and judgments must be followed by the inferior courts else the judgments below forthwith will be reversed and another trial had. Now, what do the people propose to do? Simply propose to change the jury for removal from the legislature to the people themselves."

Albert Martin Kaies, attorney, of Chicago, also spoke for the recall, while United States District Attorney James H. Wilkerson and Charles H. Hamill of Chicago opposed it.

LITERARY BURGULAR STUDIED

SHERLOCK HOLMES METHOD.

Special to The Morning News.

New York, May 18.—A thousand volumes of detective stories, including complete sets of Sherlock Holmes, Gaboriau and Nick Carter, were found by detectives in the home of Harry Lelling of Brooklyn, following his arrest on the charge of burglary. The police said today that he had made a confession in which he declared that he had devoted much time to a careful study of the detective stories.

His object in reading these books, he said, was to learn by just what methods detectives were able to trace criminals. After learning those methods he expected to find a way to avoid detection. He realized, he said, that a perfunctory perusal of the works would not be sufficient, as he would overlook small details which often enabled the detectives to run down persons who apparently had covered their tracks successfully. Hence he did not limit his reading to Gaboriau and Doyle, but obtained copies of the works of detective story writers of lesser note.

Since January last reports of thefts from Brooklyn flats have been frequent and about 40 cases investigated showed that the same methods were used in all. The fact that the thefts were all committed in the day led the detectives to keep a watch on delivery wagons who had routes in the neighborhood. Lelling was a driver for an oil company and he was among those watched. A search of his home revealed some of the missing valuables.

CLERGYMAN A BANKRUPT.

Special to The Morning News.

East Killingly, Conn., May 18.—Preaching the gospel on Sunday and working as a mechanic in a big Worcester, Mass., plant during the week, the Rev. Edward M. Rollins, pastor of the Baptist church here, having a wife and nine children, cannot make ends meet and has filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States court at Hartford. The pastor swore that he was unable to pay the filing fee of $20, "for the reason that I have no property other than my few household goods, a few books and my wearing apparel, except a debt due me from the First Baptist church of East Killingly for services rendered, which debt I am unable to collect."

DIG CROWD SEES NINTH INNING RALLY "FIZZLE"

(By Whoopee.)
"Sposin' for instance, that your father had given you two or three hundred thousand and orders to go out and make a lingering memory of some dimly remembered, some small proposition that was tramping rough-shod over the rights of the 'dear people,' yours for instance? And supposing that after bribing two or three of the superintendents and other slave drivers that you had worked up to the second vice-president and was getting away with it, but that he double-crossed you? And then suppose that he worked the Indian sign on you when you were not looking, and then with blood in your eye you went at the generalissimo of the whole works determined to make a res-strike and only bowled over a few pins? And then supposing that you went home and your father looked at you over his glasses and said something about 'boys will be boys' and a lot of that sort, and told you he hoped you would do better next time? You'd feel about as useful as the dummy hand in a bridge game, wouldn't you? But you'd make up your mind to do or die next time, wouldn't you? Now, honest, wouldn't you?"

Waco Did It.
Well then, take for instance the fact that when Manager Hardy and his team of Waco ball players left town on a road trip, he had a big end in the percentage column; that he got along very well in fact, until he got to Beaumont, where he lost the first game. Also take into consideration that he lost the second game, this time by a score of 3 to 2, and that he then proceeded to lose the third game by a duplicate score. Of course, Hardy didn't do it, but his players did. And then, take into consideration that he boasted out of first place, he came home and was met by a bunch of fans that promised to let by-gones be by-gones if he'd make good in the future, and then take into consideration that an enthusiastic crowd, a regular Sunday crowd, in size, attended the first game back on the grounds, just to show their heart was in the right place, and cheered. Wouldn't that make an ordinary man "bust a hame string?" Manager Hardy didn't have any to break, but his players did. Seemingly, all of which is an unnecessary prelude to writing that Waco won over Beaumont Saturday afternoon at Katy Park by a score of 8 to 2, and is again at the head of the Texas League by some 19 points. Beaumont going back to second place.

Three-Sided Affair.
For the first three innings yesterday, the proper style of the game would be Waco vs. Beaumont vs. Umpire Van Sickle. In the seventh, for a fleeting moment it was Beaumont vs. Waco vs. Umpire Van Sickle. The cause being up to the third was Pitcher Larson for Beaumont, and Dawson and Russell, two other Oilers pitchers, who were playing from the bench. In the eighth, Crichtlow, left fielder for Waco, was the opposition. Larson and Crichtlow were each fined $5 and ejected, "by word of mouth," however, from the grounds, and Dawson and Russell were ruled off the bench.

Umpire Van Sickle didn't wear his label yesterday, but he has a whole trunk full of ultimatums reading something like this: "If you want to know who's boss around here, start something." Several things were started but the windup was always disastrous for someone other than "His Ump." During the early part of the game, it was a question whether it or the threatened trouble was the most interesting. Sentiment was divided. Scores in Doves.

Waco scored first in the third, Aiken getting a single and being advanced by Stewart's double. Renard was then retired at first, allowing Aiken to come in. Wohleben and Crichtlow were given passes and Duguey got a single, but all were futile. The storm which had been brewing, owing to the numerous kicks registered by Larson of Beaumont, then became acute and Larson retired, Brandt taking the box in the fourth. He held the whip hand until the fifth, when Stewart got to first on a grounder fielded and thrown wild by Edmiston. Renard got a single and went to second on a wild pitch, advancing Stewart. Wohleben got a single and reached second. Stewart coming home. Duguey got to first on an error and stole second, allowing Renard to go to third, but he was caught attempting to come in. Carson then singled and Wohleben and Duguey who had been leaving bases in their rear, scored.

Another Storm Breaks.
In the sixth, Tanner, first up, and Carson, last up, fanned, but in the meantime there had been something doing, notably three passes issued by Brandt that figured in the scoring. Aiken, following Tanner, was passed, stole second; Stewart singled, and Renard flew out. Aiken then beating the ball in. Wohleben was then passed and following, Crichtlow was also given four balls. Then came the redoubtable Duguey who singled and Stewart and Wohleben came in. Waco passed up chances in the seventh, if there were any, and in the eighth, Wohleben, first up, fanned. Just at this juncture, Crichtlow who was at the bat, and Umpire Van Sickle, had the final session of their session, the game and fined, McLaurin, who and Crichtlow was booted out of the game and fined. McLaurin, who recently joined the team, was sent in to bat and got to first on a badly fielded grounder to Cook at first. He stole second and went to third on Duguey's flyout and scored on Carson's grounder, which was thrown wild to the home plate.

Only Two For Beaumont.
Dall scored for Beaumont in the fourth, advancing Cook who secured a double but was caught at the home plate, and then came the ninth inning. By elimination of the ninth inning, Waco would have won the last two games at Beaumont, and it began to look ominous for the locals when that session was reached yesterday. Cook, first up, was hit by a pitched ball and took first. He stole second and got to third on the error of Dall and Cowan and was scored by Thebo's single, and the game was over.

Hits were almost at a premium yesterday, as far as Beaumont was concerned compared with Waco, the visitors getting only seven, while Waco knocked 14. Beaumont took all honors in the error column, amassing six while Waco came through with a clean slate.

One Hit Overlooked.
When it comes to considering what might have occurred, Waco should have made another and possibly two more scores in the third yesterday. Stewart, by straining a point, or getting started a little earlier, should have scored on a passed ball at home. Instead, he was put out by Larson, who ran to the plate. Wohleben might have done things also, but what's the use, Waco won anyway.

A feature catch by Crichtlow brought the fans to their feet in the fifth, when after a long run, he staggered under Holtz's fly, caught it, stumbled a few feet and finally fell, rolling over. As to the ball, he held it.

The second game of the series will be played here this afternoon, but it will not be called until 4:30 o'clock in deference to the union revival service for men only, which will be held at the tabernacle beginning at 3 o'clock. The score yesterday:

'NO HOME WITHOUT MACARONI.'
Special to The Morning News.
Chicago, May 18.—Mrs. Theresa Infradio told Judge Goodnow in the court of domestic relations yesterday that a home was impossible without macaroni. The judge agreed with her.

Mrs. Infradio was suing her husband for non-support. She said her mother-in-law had left their home with nearly all of the cooking utensils and, more than that, all of the macaroni.

The judge issued an order which will compel the husband to furnish a home well supplied with macaroni or face the wrath of the court.

AWAY MONTH; DOESN'T RECALL LEAVING HOME.
Trenton Man, Found By Wife In Pittsburgh, Says His Mind Was Blank.

Special to The Morning News.
Pittsburgh, May 18.—About one month ago Thomas Davis arose from the supper table at his home in Trenton, N. J., complaining of a severe headache. Remarking he was going out for some fresh air, he left the house. That was the last seen of him by relatives until he met his wife in a Pittsburgh police station today.

Two weeks ago Davis wrote his wife from Parkersburg, W. Va., telling her he could not account for his being there. She sent him money, but he did not return. Last week he turned up in Wheeling, W. Va., and was furnished by the mayor of that city with money to come to Pittsburgh.

Local detectives found Davis Wednesday evening. His wife was notified, and she came on the next train. Davis says he has no recollection of having left home. Mrs. Davis took her husband home to Trenton today.

NEGROES WARNED TO LEAVE.
Special to The Morning News.
Cleveland, N. M., May 18.—Fifty mounted men, representing themselves to be citizens of Texas, a village nine miles from here, today surrounded the negro quarters in Clovis and warned the inhabitants to leave within three days because, they declared, persons of questionable character were being harbored. The riders dispersed on the approach of a sheriff's posse, which guaranteed protection.

AFFECTED BY INSANE UNDER HIS CHARGE

Superintendent of Lehigh County Almshouse Breaks Down Mentally.

Special to The Morning News.
Allentown, Pa., May 18.—James Shankweiler, 54 years old, who for twelve years was superintendent of the Lehigh county almshouse, was today found a suicide in the attic of his mother's home, having hanged himself.

Shankweiler, it is figured by his friends, became deranged mentally. His position required him to superintend the work of such of the inmates of the institution as were capable of performing labor on the farm generally, and gradually and through association with the insane and the degenerate his mind became melancholy.

He resigned a few months ago, intending to buy a farm of his own, but his nerves were so far gone that the change did not check his malady.

When physical examination developed no objections to the ministerial candidate's enlistment, he was told that the papers would be ready Tuesday and said he would appear then, prepared to don the uniform.

SHABUOTH, FEAST OF WEEKS CELEBRATION

SEVEN CANDIDATES FOR CONFIRMATION TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY AT TEMPLE.

Shabuoth, the Feast of Weeks, will be celebrated at Temple Rodef Sholem Tuesday night at 8 o'clock and Wednesday morning at 10, when seven candidates will be confirmed in the faith of Israel.

Shabuoth, "The Feast of Weeks," also called "The Feast of the First Fruits," falls, according to the Jewish calendar, on the sixth of Sivan which will occur this year on the eve of May 21st. Its name is derived from the seven weeks which elapsed between the departure of the children of Israel from Egypt and their arrival at Mt. Sinai. Like its companion holiday, the Feast of Passover, it, too, has both an agricultural and a historical aspect. This was the early harvest season when the first of the wheat, baked in two loaves of bread, was brought as an offering of gratitude, and as a token of man's dependence upon the goodness of God. Historically it carries us back in memory to the promulgation of the Ten Commandments, when Israel accepted the new moral code and religious legislation, and was aroused for the first time to the consciousness of his new spiritual task and destiny. The Ten Commandments were the Magna Charta of Religion. Having secured political freedom, Moses found it necessary to give his people religious freedom. The new nation must be buttressed upon religious obligation. They may be a kingdom, but they must be a kingdom of priests, a holy nation.

Shabuoth has gained a stronger and a more impressive hold today by entwining its symbolism about the impressionable child. "Confirmation" is the youth's feast of self-consecration. We publicly affirm by this ceremonial that our children, the first ripe fruit of our religious schools, shall stand morally and religiously in the same enthusiastic and receptive attitude as did their fathers at the foot of Mt. Sinai.

Shabuoth has a distinctly modern and indispensable appeal to the individual. It teaches, first of all, that religion, as a necessity of life, is the actuating motive and sanction of personal, social and national character. Secondly, it champions the cause of religious freedom as the most highly prized privilege and possession of the human race.

The confirmants this year are Lillie Wood, Nannette Haber, Leah Friedman, Sadie Goodman, Mildred Freund, Sadie Hawtof and Libbie Davidson.

E. A. JOHNSON, 623 Austin.

Current Events

Item states "Mrs. Rotan, Mrs. White and Mrs. Middleton have been very kind to send vegetables." These reports show the dead decently buried, the destitute clothed, children provided with homes, young women secured respectable employment. It is impossible to enumerate the many helping hands which have been extended at the Home.

More Years to Come.

So, with the twentieth anniversary being recognized there is the outlook that many more are to come. The Home is now comfortable, a roomy two-story building, freshly painted, with a practical, efficient matron, a board of earnest women for directors, and every assurance that what has been done within the first twenty years is but the beginning of what is to come.

Society Notes.

Miss Dancy is gone to Austin to attend a dinner party where her mother, Mrs. Joseph Dibrell, is hostess, and Annie Vibe Carter of Houston the honoree.

Owing to the flood conditions, Miss Mason of Gunston Hall has instructed her girls from Texas to return home by rail. This brings Miss Katherine Spencer late this month. Miss Stella Lacy is also to return from there with Miss Nancy Lacy, who is in Washington City for the closing exercises of Gunston.

The Domestic club meets next Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Shapley Ross on North Sixteenth.

It will be early June before Mrs. Leonard Dickson takes home passage for Chicago. At that time Mr. Dickson will have returned from Europe, and the summer home on the lake will be opened.

Miss Inez Keith is inviting a large house party for Cuero in middle June. Miss Maydee Cluffield will go down, also Miss Nanette Simpson from Quannah, who is remembered as a former Waco girl. There will be ten days of gaiety.

Mrs. A. C. Patton's return from Grandview will find with her Mr. Patton's mother who will hereafter be a member of the Patton household. This change is made since the break in the old home by the death of the father a few weeks ago.

Ground has been broken for the Forest Jackson cottage building on Twenty-third and Morrow.

Mrs. Frank Trau of West Columbus had written that she would be at home last week, but a later decision detained her with Houston friends to be a participant in the opening of the causeway between Galveston and Houston.

The invitations for Mrs. W. H. Robert's reception for Miss Lucy Early were issued by telephone yesterday. This pleasing event is scheduled for the Huaco club on Wednesday.

Every single soul should read the anniversary notice given the Home this morning. Aside from the philanthropic phase, the account is full of personal reminiscence.

Mrs. Roberta Wood Peay is now chaperone to her own home out on West avenue.

Picnics and then more picnics were the order of Saturday.

Owing to the recent death of her grandfather, Miss Lydia Clinton is not mingling in social affairs for the present.

It looks now as though the Waco girls at the State University will all come home before the final festivities. They have at least so written.

Mr. and Mrs. William Waldo Cameron are leaving within the next few days for Galveston. They go to participate in the opening of the causeway. Mr. Cameron in official capacity as a member of Governor Colquitt's staff. They will have much of social pleasure.

Miss Karen Heard for an afternoon party. Mrs. Ned Marshall and Miss Mary Glover for luncheon, are some of the social courtesies in prospect for Miss Willie Seely within the coming week.

It is now the duty of society to establish the name of the prairie flower which is proving so popular this season. Is it the fox glove, the Canterbury bell, or is it still some other name?

The sinking of the Titanic upon which her passage was engaged, and the necessity of engaging another boat has hastened the departure of Mrs. Flora Cameron for Europe a few days. She is now sailing from Boston instead of New York early in June.

Are you enlisted in the clean up? Are you awaiting the fly and are you singing the refrain, Death to the mosquito?

The marriage epidemic is playing and havoc with the card clubs among the young ladies.

Why is it that so few Waco girls are tennis enthusiasts? It is healthful sport, and it is more than graceful, and, besides these, it is favored by society elsewhere.

Through the instigation of the woman, a starving horse was put out of its misery on Friday. Are there not other cases to report to the city police?

Society Personals.

The homecoming of Mrs. J. W. Henshaw of South Third from Houston is of recent note.

IS LYNCHING ACCIDENT? COURTS WILL DECIDE

By The Associated Press.

Baton Rouge, La., May 18.—Whether or not lynching is an accident is a question which the courts will be called on to decide. Cora Miles, wife of Frank Miles, who was hanged by a mob in Shreveport a few weeks ago for writing an insulting note to a white woman, filed a suit today against a local firm for account of an insurance company, asking payment of a $400 policy carried by her husband. In the petition the wife does not say her husband was lynched, but declares he was found "hanging from the limb of a tree in the rear of the baseball park with a rope around his neck."

YALE WINS IN TENNIS.

By The Associated Press.

Princeton, N. J., May 18.—Yale defeated Princeton in tennis today, five matches to four. Yale won all the double matches while Princeton captured all the singles but two. Matsey's playing was the feature of Princeton play.

FRANCE PEEVED AT RUSSIA.

By The Associated Press.

Paris, May 18.—Despite official denials several newspapers of the opposition party insist that the Russian ambassador, Apsiswolsky, interjected his personality in the situation in order to bring about the retirement of George Louis, French ambassador at St. Petersburg. They declare that M. Louis' presence is not acceptable to the Russian court at St. Petersburg, which is desirous of throwing Russian influence onto the side of Italy as against Turkey. This tendency on the part of Russia is displeasing to France and England, which, however, remained rigidly neutral during the controversy.

According to information in well informed circles, however, if the incident connected with M. Louis is anything at all, it is merely the result of intrigues among certain diplomats at St. Petersburg and Paris and in no way affects the solidity of the Franco-Russian alliance.

GOOD ROADS MEET FIGHTS POSTAL APPROPRIATION

By The Associated Press.

New Orleans, La., May 18.—At today's session of the National Good Roads congress opposition developed to the rider to the postal appropriation bills pending in congress which appropriates from $15 to $25 per mile annually for rural postal roads. The congress for several years has favored a bond issue by the government by large appropriations to help in building good roads and the objections heard today were to the principle of the government in allotting small sums permit for the work.

BODY OF BRIDE FOUND

CARBOLEIC ACID ON LIPS

By The Associated Press.

Galveston, Tex., May 18.—With traces of carbolic acid burns still on her lips, the body of Mrs. Minnie Stephens, the four months bride of Harry Stephens, a street vender, was found dead and partially covered by water in a cistern at her residence, 2823 Avenue I, early this morning. The couple came here from New York a few months ago.

COTTON IS LOWER UNDER LIQUIDATION

CLOSE EASY AT NET DECLINE OF 16 TO 23 POINTS—RECEIPTS ARE SMALLER.

By The Associated Press.

New York, May 18.—The cotton market was weak and lower today under liquidation and local selling inspired by favorable weather in the south and improving crop conditions. The close was easy at a net decline of 16 to 23 points.

The market opened easy at a decline of 5 to 13 points in sympathy with disappointing cables and on the favorable weather map. Covering for the week-end was active enough to check the decline, and it showed the net loss of 11 to 14 points, but only a slight rally occurred and the market soon turned weaker, owing to continued liquidation, southern selling and local pressure inspired by predictions for generally clear weather over Sunday.

Closing prices were practically the lowest of the day on the active positions. While a great many bullish reports are still being received, private crop news from the south has become decidedly more favorable during the past few days and with a continuation of present weather, local sellers predict a further improvement in the outlook for the crop before the government's condition figures are made up for publication on June 4. The selling, however, if the talk around the ring may be trusted, does not indicate expectations that the official condition will be up to the ten-year average, but is more the result of an impression that a comparatively bullish report has been discounted and that if favorable weather continues, the trade will soon be looking forward to a favorable July report.

Liverpool was lower than due on the New York close of yesterday and supposed to have been influenced by the good weather reported in the south. Selling was said to have been encouraged by reports that the mills were already well supplied with old crop and of a slack trade demand, as well as the better view of the new crop outlook. The southern selling attracted considerable attention and much of it was claimed to be liquidation of short accounts.

Receipts today 7454 bales, against 7557 last week and 6069 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 3466, against 2433 last year. At Houston 515 bales, against 442 last year, and at Galveston 1143, against 978 last year.

WHEAT PRICES SHOW TENDENCY TO RECOVER

CORN PRICES SWING UNEASILY WITHIN A NARROW RANGE. WEAKNESS IN OATS.

By The Associated Press.

Chicago, May 18.—Actions on the wheat market today indicated that the recent liquidation had been thorough and that prices had developed a tendency to recover. The close was steady at a net advance of 1/4 @ 1/2c. Western sections left corn the same as last night to 1/4 @ 1/2c below, oats unchanged to 1/4c down, and provisions off 5 @ 32 1/2c.

Wheat trade was mainly a scalping affair. The tone appeared nervous and dealers as a rule were disposed to keep their commitments light pending the progress of another week. At first the market sagged as a result of railroad reports that seemed to point to a bumper yield in Nebraska. Later there was considerable buying under the leadership of some of the larger firms. The result was an upturn, which held fairly well until the last hour, when the market receded a bit because of estimates foreshadowing government figures in June suggesting a winter wheat crop 30,000,000 bushels in excess of what had been expected in May.

Corn prices swung uneasily within a narrow range. The weather formed the chief influence and was variously regarded as fine for the shipping of spring wheat and as too cold for early planted corn.

Uniformly good crop advices weakened the oats market. There was, however, a better cash demand than has recently been the case.

Provisions slid down grade on account of receipts of hogs, showing a decided gain as compared with last week. September delivery of pork dropped the furthest, 12 1/2c. Otherwise the declines averaged about 10c all around.

The close follows:

WEEKLY COTTON REVIEW.

New Orleans, May 18.—The cotton market sagged this week under improved weather and crop conditions over the cotton region. The close on futures was at a net loss of 20 to 24 points. This was the lowest level of the week. The high prices were made on Tuesday when the trading months were 1 1/2 to 20 points over last week's close. The range was 40 to 43 points.

Heavy short selling was in evidence in the middle of the week. The weather over the belt turned cooler and dry and reports from nearly all important sections of the belt were to the effect that farmers were making rapid headway toward completing planting; not a few sections reports cotton up to a good stand and in some instances chopped out. Here and there in the central and eastern portions of the cotton region, some localities claimed to have more cotton above ground than they had last year at this time. All this served to create much bearish movement, which resulted in selling pressure on the market.

In the early part of the week, the market was supported to some extent by bullish expectations regarding the pending government reports on acreage condition. The efforts being made in congress to postpone the acreage report until July, however, weakened the bullish claims and allowed the bears to consider nothing but the weather. After the middle of the week, bears were able to force some demand on liquidation from the long side. They were aided in this by uncertainty over the date of the bureau reports.

In the spot department prices lost five-sixteenths of a cent a pound, middling closing at 11 5/8 against 11 1/2 last week and 15 11/16c this week last year.

Sales amounted to 2311 bales against 1398 last week and 1344 this week last year; sales to arrive amounted to 1932 bales against 3225 last week and 1799 this week last year.

DIES WHILE MAKING READY TROUSSEAU

Miss Elizabeth Taylor Succumbs to Heart Attack On Eve of Marriage.

Baltimore, May 18.—Stricken with heart failure while making ready the trousseau for her marriage, which was to have taken place in June, Miss Elizabeth Taylor, the only daughter of John W. Taylor of 2024 North Charles street, died yesterday morning after an illness of only one day. Though she had been in poor health during the spring, the attack was entirely unexpected, and Lawrence Smith, her fiancé, a former Baltimorean who is now working at the New York Dock company, was unaware of her danger and was absent at the time of her death.

Miss Taylor was 29 years old and apparently of strong physique. Her excellent voice had attracted attention in the choir of Christ Episcopal church, in which she had been singing for some time.

Though a trained nurse for special cases, she found time, in addition to her regular duties, to take up work in the city playgrounds, and for two summers has taken care of the children at Howard park.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at the Northminster Presbyterian church, where the services will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Robert P. Kerr, and Rev. Dr. Edwin Barnes Niver. Christ church choir will be in attendance. Interment will be in Druid Ridge cemetery.

MAN WHO STOOD STILL OVERTAKEN BY DEATH

MERCHANT WHO DIDN'T ADVERTISE, OR CHANGE STOCK, OR SELL ANYTHING, IS DEAD.

By The Associated Press.

Aurora, Ill., May 18.—The death of D. W. Stockwell of this city, at Hawarden, Canada, last night, marked the passing of one of the quaintest characters in Illinois.

He was known as "the man who stood still."

As owner of one of the biggest stores in Northern Illinois, outside of Chicago, during the civil war, he prospered. After the war he failed to keep abreast of the times and the same goods which he carried then still adorn the shelves and show windows of the store.

Five years after the war he was still making a profit. In ten years more the place was a curiosity shop and has continued so. The hoop skirt, barber striped hose, jet jewelry and like antiquities continued a part of his stock.

In later years he was the only one who entered the place except visitors to the city. He did no advertising. He had about $10,000 worth of goods and settled down to wait for customers who never came. He was at business at 7 o'clock each morning and remained until 6 o'clock in the evening. He was 77 years old.

JUST TO KEEP THE RECORD STRAIGHT

The following poem appeared in The Waco Morning News Thursday morning:

THE AVERAGE INCOME.

By A. G. Chittick.

The average income is sorely tried
In the struggle to make ends meet—
To pay the wages of those who help,
And the bills for the food we eat.

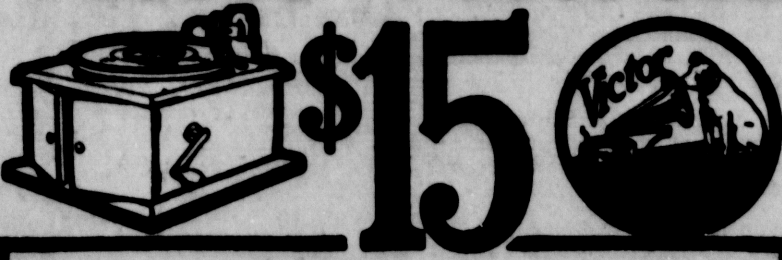

But butter is up, potatoes are up,
And meats were never so dear.
But the average income just stands still,
Or else grows smaller each year.

The cook in the kitchen asks for more,
And so does the serving maid;
And then, perforce, as a matter of course,
The increase must be paid.

We are told that coal is about to rise—
The gas bills are twice as large—
And for every strike which threatens the land
The consumer must pay the charge.

So, what are the people going to do,
And how are they going to live,
When the average income is stretched and strained
Beyond what it's able to give?

ROTAN IS GOLF CHAMPION OF ALL TEXAS ATTENDANCE FOR STATE SHOOT PROMISING

WITH BRILLIANT FINISH, WINS OVER DALLAS MAN, 7 UP, 5 TO PLAY.

TEXAS STATE SPORTSMEN'S ASSOCIATION HOLDS ANNUAL MEET WITH WACONANS.

McCallough of Houston Wins Dallas Cup—El Paso Banker Is Runner-Up.

Prominent Countrywide Shots to Be Here—Game Preservation Organization Planned.

Special to The Morning News.

Dallas, May 18.—George V. Rotan, a Waco golfer, won the golf championship of Texas Saturday afternoon by a score of 7 up and 5 to play, defeating George N. Aldredge of Dallas. Aldredge had held his own during the eighteen-hole half of the morning round, being defeated by one up only. It had been expected that he would have made a much better showing than he did in the last round. However, the unexpected happened and the Waco man had little difficulty in defeating his plucky opponent.

To Champion Rotan went the state handicap cup for his score of 76, lowest for the eighteen holes of the course during the 1912 meet.

E. J. McCullough of Houston won the Dallas cup over Chas. H. Leavell of El Paso, 3 up and 3 to play.

F. D. Cochran of Dallas won the consolation cup from J. S. Kendall of Dallas, 3 up and 2 to play. These were the principal results of Saturday's play. In addition, there were awards in the way of cups for the runners-up, the four players who made the best scores in the qualifying round and for the one player who made the lowest score in the same round.

Chas. H. Leavell, a banker of El Paso, was awarded the medal for runner up in the Dallas cup match play. B. D. Brown, Louis Jacoby, Bryan Heard and Milby Porter, all of Houston, were awarded the president's cup for the team from one city making the lowest score in the qualifying round.

R. F. Connerly, former state champion, was awarded the gold medal for the lowest single score in the qualifying round.

"Shooting," with the result as lacking of fatalities as many of the "principal engagements" in the Mexican war, will disturb Wacans, or at least those residing near Gurley park, this week. Guns, not the weapon that flashes through the minds of Texans when the word is mentioned, but real guns, those that cost real money and have as many tricks and features as a chess game, will be on streets, street cars, in hotels and cafes. They're not loaded, however, and the men behind the guns are good fellows, and good shots, most all of them.

Early arrivals for the thirty-fifth annual shoot of the Texas State Sportsman association, May 20, 21, 22 and 23, which is the clan scheduled to gather in Waco, began putting in an appearance with their guns Saturday. Others came last night, more will be in today and tonight, and when the big affair starts Monday morning, a rabbit would have about as much chance of getting away as a locomotive has chance of landing the nomination for president. The disappointing fact to the non-fans is that rabbits will not be up to shoot at. Instead, little targets will fly out in the atmosphere, a report will ring out, the shooter will take another credit mark—or he won't.

The event is under the auspices of the Waco Gun club. Sportsmen from over the United States and Texas will be in attendance at the shoot, and many of the prominent ones have telegraphed their intentions. Included are Charles Spencer of St. Louis, Will Crosby of O'Fallon, Ill., Will Heer of Oklahoma City and F. M. Pascoe of Dallas. Large delegations from all the principal cities and gun clubs from over Texas will be in attendance, and the majority will arrive this morning.

Golf Robbing the Sunday Schools for Caddies, Church Says

By The Associated Press.

Louisville, Ky., May 18.—One hundred thousand caddies are taken from Sunday school by golf, according to the report prepared by the committee on Sabbath observance for petition to the 124th general assembly of the Northern Presbyterian church here today. "Sunday sports blight character," continues the report. "Nine-tenths of those who enter prison started that way by Sabbath breaking, largely by Sunday sport."

Recommendations of the committee provide that the assembly view with strong disapproval all secularization of the Sabbath, all games and sports in civic life as also in the army and navy; all unnecessary traveling and all excursions and urges upon all employers of labor and captains of industry to recognize the laboring man's need of his weekly rest day and thereby insure his greater efficiency and happiness and the greater prosperity of both capital and labor.

The committee turns the spot light on Washington, severely scoring the capital for "continued and increasing laxity in Sabbath observance." The Sunday newspapers are condemned.

PREBYTERIANS WANT THE SABBATH OBSERVED

Conference at Louisville to Fight for Observance of Biblical Rule.

By The Associated Press.

Louisville, May 18.—Organized and aggressive efforts toward the general realization of the commandment, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," will be made throughout the territory of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America this coming year, if the recommendations of the general assembly in session here are carried out. These provide for Sabbath observance commissions in every synod, presbytery and church, all co-operating with similar committees of other denominations and all assisting the labors of the Lord's Day Alliance of the United States and the Women's National Sabbath Alliance. Other matters submitted today include the preliminary reports of the judicial and bills and overtures committees and that of the committee representing a decided deficit of $2072.27. Recommendation of the council of the Presbyterian Brotherhood that a special assembly committee of seven be named to co-operate with the brotherhood council in the carrying on of the Men and Religion Forward Movement was referred to the standing committee, which will report later in the session.

On Monday the committee on the next place of meeting will make its report. This will be awaited with much interest.

BIG PROGRAM IS FEATURED AT TARBENACLE

SPECIAL ARRANGEMENTS MADE TO ACCOMMODATE MEN THIS AFTERNOON.

Union Service Tonight—Evangelist Ham Interests Many Saturday Night.

A day full of great services is the plan of the big union revival on Franklin street for today. Each pastor will preach in his own pulpit at 11 a. m. and at 3 p. m. a mammoth mass meeting for men will be held at the tabernacle. At 8 p. m. practically every church in the city will be closed and their congregations united in the tabernacle meeting. Those who have heard Evangelist Ham, report that his greatest power lies in these men's meetings. The majority of converts in the Ham meetings are men, hence great interest is centering about the men's meeting this afternoon.

A large number of seats were added to the equipment of the tabernacle Saturday and much available space outside the roof of the building will seat several hundred people at this evening's services.

It was a big crowd for a Saturday night that listened to the evangelist last night on the subject, "What is a Christian?"

"The disciples were first called Christians at Antioch, because they were like Christ and you could tell it from the way they lived," said. "He is in love with Jesus like a young man in love with his sweetheart. Another work of a Christian is given by King Agrippa when he got mad because Paul tried to make a Christian out of him and showed that a Christian is one whose master passion is to make Christians out of others. The church is full of lukewarm Christians and God said he would spew them out of his mouth."

"Another mark of a Christian is given by Peter when he says, 'If any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed,' and the story shows that these folks were criticized because they would not indulge in reveling with the world. But in these days few Christians suffer this kind of persecution. The preacher made it plain that he had no patience with Christians who indulge in worldly amusements and practice of questionable amusements.

REWARD CHECKS ARE EXHIBITED IN WACO

J. Levinski, jeweler, is exhibiting checks for $100 in his window, which the Jewelers' Security alliance is paying to Detective Gunning and DeWitt for the arrest and conviction of Louis Brochhoff and Charles Beall, who pleaded guilty to burglarizing the store on the night of April 5, and securing of jewelry valued at $650. Under the direction of the alliance, lists of the stolen property were sent to the surrounding cities, and the officers were notified of the reward offer, and in co-operation with Houston officers, the alleged burglars (who were known to have been in Waco at the time of the robbery) were rounded up and a part of the property found on them. They confessed. Part of the jewelry was recovered from a pawnbroker to whom it had been sold; other portions from persons in Dallas, Waco and Fort Worth to whom it had been given; while still another lot was recovered from the express company in Chicago where it had been shipped. There is still some jewelry missing, which it is hoped will eventually be recovered. The burglars pleaded guilty and were sentenced to two years each in the penitentiary.

DANIEL TOOLE TO LECTURE IN WACO

Will Speak at New Grand Theater, Old Imperial, at 8 O'clock Tonight.

Arrangements have been completed by the International Bible Students' Association for a free Bible lecture at New Grand Theater.

The instrument, supposed to be of little value, was given to Riley after his father's death, while other members of the family shared through various articles of furniture. Mr. Riley thought little of his possession until he brought it to Gettysburg and was stopped by a tourist who, on brief examination, offered $50 for the violin. Riley suspected that it was worth more and refused it. Gradually the would-be purchaser increased his price until he offered $7500, which Mr. Riley still refused. The bidder refused to go higher.

Later in the day another effort was made by another man to buy the instrument, but Riley is holding on to it until he learns its real value. The violin bears the date 1703, rudely carved. It was at one time in the possession of people in South America. Riley's father purchased it at public sale for a mere song.

PANTLESS PRISONER CAN'T BE ARRAIGNED

Special to The Morning News.

Joplin, Mo., May 18.—Missouri's only woman justice issued her first warrant yesterday, but the prisoner will not be arraigned until suitably clad in neither garments. The woman justice is Mrs. A. J. Earle, recently appointed to succeed her husband, who died. One Howard, a minor, is named defendant in the criminal action. He is accused of stealing a pair of trousers. Howard was arrested and placed in jail. The feminine justice ordered him brought into court.

PROPHET 15 YEARS OLD.

Hindu Regarded by Theosophists As Precursor of "The Master."

Special to The Morning News.

Paris, April 18.—Theosophists of Europe have their thoughts directed toward Paris, for at Paris has arrived a new Hindu prophet who is regarded by many Theosophists as the precursor of the ultimate Master who is to give to the world its long-experienced moral transformation. He is a mere boy, only 15 years of age, and he comes from Tdyar, India. At 14 he wrote a book called "At the Feet of the Master," which has been translated into many languages, and which is said by Theosophists to be inspired by a high consciousness of human needs. To them the prophet, who is called both Krishna-murti and Atyone, confirms by his presence the declarations of Mrs. Annie Besant in her address at the Sorbonne last year that a profound change was coming in the life of humanity and that it was to be entered upon a new phase to be signified by the coming of the Master, who was to establish a new religion.

The prophet presided at a meeting of Theosophists. He plans to pass about six months at the University of Oxford, to gain a knowledge of western culture, for he believes that in the new era there will come a union of western culture and of eastern wisdom. He predicts for the future the formation of a new continent in the Pacific ocean like the one called Atlantis, which, according to classical tradition, once existed in the Atlantic ocean. The prophet and his friends contend that the Bogoloff Islands, whose coming in the North Pacific was accom-nied by seismic disturbances, are the nucleus of the new continent he has in mind. This physical earth change, he believes, will signalize a revolution in religion.

FARMER REFUSES $7500 FOR HEIRLOOM VIOLIN

Gettysburg Tourist Makes Offer, But Owner Will Hold Out For More.

Special to The Morning News.

Gettysburg, Pa., May 18.—Finding himself suddenly possessed of a violin of immense value, Charles Riley, a farmer of moderate circumstances, is now happy over a turn of affairs that has evidently made the rest of his life free from financial care.

The instrument, supposed to be of little value, was given to Riley after his father's death, while other members of the family shared through various articles of furniture.
